Shipyard Machinists Again Walk Off

VANCOUVER (CP)—Machinists and blacksmiths at the south shore yard of the Burrard Drydock Company Limited were idle again this afternoon after working the morning shift following Tuesday's stoppage.

The walkout left the south yard, the north yard of the same company and the North Van Ship Repairs Limited yard without machinists or blacksmiths, except for maintenance men, without whose services members of other unions could not work.

City Objector Jailed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lorne McGregor, 25, of Victoria, was sentenced to two months in jail today by Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson for failing to report for alternative service at a work camp in Banff National Park. He refused service on religious grounds.

Camp for Conchie's

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Forestry officials at Alberni today announced the opening of a camp for 30 Mennonites at the site of the old A.P.L. camp two at Port Alberni.

The Mennonites, who are conscientious objectors, are doing forestry protection work in B.C. forests in lieu of military training. They will fight fires, open up old grades and break trails.

Consumer to Pay

VANCOUVER (CP)—War-time Prices and Trade Board announced here today that taxes on goods and services announced in Finance Minister Isley's budget will be allowed to be added to the maximum prices charged by retailers of such goods and services.

"The intention of such taxes is that directly or indirectly they shall be paid by the consumer, and a board order will be issued today to enable this to be done," the announcement said.

Defence Charge Against Drew

OTTAWA (CP)—Action has been taken against Lt.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, under subsection B of section 39 of the Defence of Canada Regulations. It was announced at the Justice Department today.

An official said he had been informed Col. Drew has been served with a summons requiring him to appear in court to answer a charge based on his statement of June 5 commenting on the report of the Royal Commission on the Hongkong expedition.

The information, it is stated, simply charges that Col. Drew's statement constitutes an offence under subsection B of section 39 and does not specify what parts of the statement constitute the offence.

RECRUITING SAFEGUARDED

Subsection B of section 39 of the regulations provides that no person shall "act in any manner, spread reports, or make statements or utterances intended or likely to prejudice recruiting, training, discipline, or administration of any of His Majesty's forces."

Col. Drew was critical, after Hongkong fell to the Japanese last Christmas Day, of the arrangements concerning dispatch of two Canadian battalions to that Far East colony—the Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada, from Quebec. Of the 1,985 Canadians sent to Hongkong, 1,689 were reported by the Japanese as taken prisoner and it is presumed the other 296 were dead or missing. Some of the prisoners are known to have died subsequent to the fall of Hongkong.

Col. Drew's charges that some partially-trained men were sent with the expedition preceded the government's decision to appoint Sir Lyman Duff, Chief Justice of Canada, as a Royal Commissioner to inquire into all circumstances

Supply Desperate

REGINA (CP)—The supply of goods in Canada is at the "desperation point" and from now on the question of price adjustment is not as serious as the problem of supply, A. R. Mackie, director of the War-time Prices and Trade Board for Saskatchewan, said this afternoon.

Firemen in England

OTTAWA (CP)—The first contingent of Canadian fire fighters who volunteered for overseas duty has landed safely in Britain, War Services Minister Thorson was informed this afternoon in a cable from Herbert Morrison, British Secretary of State.

To Feed Greeks

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiations have been completed by which Canada will give the starving people of Greece 15,000 tons of wheat a month, approximately 500,000 bushels, it was announced here this afternoon.

The cargoes will be transported in Swedish ships under supervision of the Swedish Red Cross.

Soldiers Pay No More

MONTREAL (CP)—A spokesman for the Imperial Tobacco Company Limited of Canada said today that tobacco tax increases in the federal budget will not result in any increase in the price of cigarettes sent as gifts to members of the Canadian armed forces overseas.

Canadian Casualties

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Veterans of the first enemy attack on Canadian soil, Mrs. Edward Redford and Mrs. Brian Harrison and her seven-month-old child are recovering here from effects of spending a night in the woods when an enemy craft shelled the lighthouse and Dominion government telegraph station at Estevan Point, Saturday night. Mrs. Redford, who is in ill-health, suffered from slight shock.

GEORGE A. DREW

surrounding the sending of the expedition.

On nomination of Hon. R. B. Hanson, Conservative House leader, Col. Drew acted as one of the counsel at the inquiry, which was held in secret.

A summary of the chief justice's report was made public, but the evidence on which it was based was not made public. Sir Lyman found the force was a credit to Canada and said that in general the task of organizing the expedition was carried out well.

His only major criticism was of the failure to get certain equipment to Vancouver in time for shipment in the same vessel as the troops. He made no criticism of the training of the troops or of the selection of the men to be sent and he found the fact that the mechanical transport for the force did not reach Hongkong arose from action of United States authorities in diverting the ship in which it was being carried from its course.

Following the release of the report Col. Drew issued a statement sharply critical of it. It is that statement on which the charge is based.

Big Bombardment Seen as Prelude To Egypt Attack

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON (AP)—British mobile forces fenced with the vanguard of Axis divisions advancing on the Egyptian frontier today and German long-range guns sent shells whistling over British lines in a prelude to battle.

A powerful enemy force of all arms was on the march south of Gambut, a desert town midway between Axis-occupied Tobruk and Bardia, and a military commentator declared a major action for Egypt was imminent.

Hour by hour, the opening of an invasion attempt was expected as a sequel to the German-Italian campaign that wrested eastern Libya from British hands.

British forces engaged small Axis parties all day Tuesday west of Salum, Egyptian port near the frontier, and "our mobile columns were active to the west of our positions," a Cairo communiqué said.

Many Allied Subs Needed for Attack

Saying Axis sea lines to Tobruk would be difficult for surface ships to cut, an authoritative London source said the Mediterranean fleet would be able to make a "really effective attack" only with large numbers of submarines.

The Axis advance also limited fighter protection that could be given Malta-bound British convoys, he said, and brought German bombers within 300 miles of the British naval base at Alexandria.

Military observers said Field Marshal Erwin Rommel apparently intended to attack northern British positions, perhaps using this to mask a sweep by his armored formations around the left flank through Fort Maddalena, 50 miles southwest of Salum, and Bir el Shegga, 20 miles farther inland from the Mediterranean.

The heaviest German strength was ranged opposite Capuzzo, the old Italian border fort in Libya which now is the keystone of Lieut.-Gen. Neil Ritchie's outer line.

Axis Tank Forces Along Coast Road

In addition, British reconnaissance reported that "very strong" Axis forces of tanks and motorized infantry were moving up along the coastal road toward the Egyptian border.

Throughout Tuesday night heavy Axis artillery shelled British positions and enemy patrols stabbed here and there, evidently searching for soft spots in the familiar German technique of finding a weak link in the defence chain and hitting there with irresistible power.

AXIS SHIPS HIT

(R.A.F. headquarters at Cairo announced today that torpedo planes had scored hits on two Axis merchant ships and a destroyer in the central Mediterranean Tuesday.)

New Zealand Ends Political Dispute

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser's government and the opposition parties reached an agreement today for formation of a war administration composed of seven government and six opposition members, thus ending a domestic political dispute.

Previously the Labor Party, which controls the government, had refused an appeal of the Nationalist Party for inclusion of opposition members in the cabinet for domestic affairs although the Nationalists had been allowed five seats in the war cabinet. New Zealand's government has been divided into these two sections for some months.

The parties also agreed to extend the life of Parliament until 12 months after the end of the war, thus avoiding a general election.

ARGENTINA SENDS PROTEST TO NAZIS

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Foreign Minister Enrique Guinazu announced today that Argentina is protesting to Germany against the "aggression" committed in the submarine sinking of the Argentine vessel Rio Tercero.

Also today Roberto Ortiz, Argentina's ailing and inactive President signed a letter resigning his office.

If accepted by Congress which two years ago rejected a similar resignation by Ortiz the resignation would hand over the executive power of Argentina in name as well as in fact to Acting President Ramon S. Castillo whose "policy of prudent neutrality" has maintained this country's relations with the Axis.

Ortiz has been inactive since July 3, 1940. Reconciled to the views of his personal physicians that his eyesight cannot be remedied, he acted today to end two years of political uncertainty, despite appeals of some politicians that he remain as nominal head of the government.

JAPS WILL SWAP PRISONER GOODS

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons today that the Japanese have agreed, on a reciprocal basis, that supplies for prisoners of war may be shipped in vessels to be used in the proposed change of officials, the BBC reported today.

Names of a small number of prisoners taken by the Japanese at Hongkong, together with those of civilians interned in Japan have been received, Mr. Eden told the Commons. While the Japanese have not yet given permission for neutral Red Cross ships to take relief supplies to prisoners, they have agreed to sending these supplies on diplomatic exchange ships between Great Britain and Japan and the United States and Japan, he said.

Negotiations are still going on to arrange for the British-Japanese exchange. Meanwhile, Mr. Eden said, the Red Cross is collecting supplies for dispatch to a neutral port. In this work it is being aided by Red Cross organizations in the Dominions and India.

Smaller Cocktails, Fewer Smokes, Dearer Pop

Liquor board officials, under Commissioner W. F. Kennedy today studied the new budget to see what effects increased taxes will have on hard liquor and beer in this province.

"We have nothing definite so far, but from preliminary study of the budget I would say reputed quarts of Canadian ryes and gins will increase from 40 to 50 cents a bottle and imported liquors about 10 cents more a reputed quart than that," Mr. Kennedy said. "At any rate the increases will be somewhere in that neighborhood."

The commissioner said he had been talking with brewery officials regarding taxes on beer. No decision has yet been made as to how the additional taxes will be met.

The beer parlors could either serve smaller glasses or increase the price of the glass from 10 to 15 cents if the Liquor Board gave its permission.

In downtown clubs where cocktails are served the patrons will either get a weaker drink or pay more. Club operators haven't quite decided yet which their patrons would prefer.

CIGARETTES 10 FOR 15 CENTS

Victoria wholesale tobacconists said today cigarettes would probably be selling 10 for 15 cents and 20 for 30 cents when the new taxes proposed in the Dominion government budget were put into effect. They said the public could say good-bye to 10 and 25-cent packages of cigarettes.

One wholesaler said the first effect of the new taxes would be an immediate upswing in tobacco sales before the price change, followed by increase in sale of papers and tobacco.

"People usually try to smoke less or cheaper forms of tobacco when the prices go up," he said, "but tobacco sales are increasing all the time and are usually soon back at normal."

The prices of all bottled soft drinks are 7 cents today. It is the second time that prices have been increased in the past year, being 6 cents until today.

Cases of soft drinks, previously selling at 96 cents will now be $1.20.

Most firms will start the increase tomorrow. These prices apply to both the smaller and quart sizes.

New Budget Burdens Accepted Willingly

British Columbians tightened their belts today and unprotestingly accepted new financial burdens imposed by Finance Minister Isley's budget.

Hugh Francis, president of the Victoria Retail Merchants' Association, said: "It is too early to see what effect the new budget will have on retail business, and most merchants, expecting this, have prepared themselves for new taxes. Naturally every household and business will be affected, but it is the general feeling that it has been necessary for the government to impose these higher taxes in order to prosecute the war effort."

"It is our duty as loyal Canadians to back the government to the fullest extent and show the world our determination of carrying this war to its successful conclusion."

LABOR VIEWS

Charles Chivers, president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, said: "But labor will object to the loan arrangement in the collection of 100 per cent of excess profits with provision for restitution of 20 per cent at the end of the war. We know war manufacturers are making lots of profits, and we don't see why they should get their excess back."

Birt Showler, Vancouver and New Westminster Trades and Labor Council president, said: "The working man has the satisfaction of knowing everyone else is taking it on the chin, too. We can take everything that will help win the war, as long as there is no discrimination."

CREDIT GRANTERS APPROVE

R. D. Whellams, president of the Victoria Retail Credit Granters' Association, said the buying public of Canada are fortunate, in view of the increased income taxes and compulsory savings, that the existing government regulations controlling retail credit are so fair and reasonable. His statement continued:

"It is also considered good that the new taxes on wages and salaries do not become deductible until September as it will give a two-month period for all of us to adjust our budgets to our reduced incomes."

"Latterly a great portion of business has been done on a cash basis due to the larger earnings of most of our people but now with reduced incomes many more may want to purchase essential goods and services on the installment basis.

"Every member of the Victoria Retail Credit Granters' Association is anxious to assist their customers in obtaining such essential goods and services on credit."

INSURANCE TAXES

In the opinion of one Victoria insurance underwriter, the addition of 2 per cent on life, fire and casualty insurance premiums as asked in the 1942-43 Dominion budget, would not result in the raising of insurance premiums paid by the public.

The underwriter said it was his opinion the new tax would be put only on company's net premium income and would be absorbed by each company in overhead.

Another insurance company manager said he thought the tax on policies would have the effect of dissuading insured persons from letting policies lapse, since the money they would have spent on the policy would be required for savings, but admitted it might be difficult to write new policies in view of decreased spending power.

Night club operators in Vancouver on whose bills a 20 per cent tax will be clamped anticipate no reduction in patrons.

"If folks want to go out, they go out even if they have to pay an extra tax," said one.

TELEPHONES

Telephone company officials said the monthly 25 cent tax on extension telephones would be of little help in meeting equipment shortages even if it resulted in such extensions being taken out and returned to the company, since the worst shortages are in switchboards, automatic equipment and outside cables.

HOME MORTGAGES

The fact principal payments on home mortgages may be deducted from total tax payments was expected to be offset to some extent by the government, it being thought likely limits would be set on the mortgage payments deductible. Otherwise, it was said, a mortgagor paying 5 to 8 per cent interest could lift his principal payments to extinguish compulsory savings on which only 2 per cent interest is allowed.

LIKES LOAN ASPECTS

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., saw value in the loan aspects.

"When we stop to consider the price some are paying in this conflict," he said, "we can find scant room for criticism over the new taxes. They have increased and will probably increase further before we have paid for victory. There will be room for some encouragement, however, in the new savings features included in the levies. While Victorians, with Canadians in general, will at least have the satisfaction of knowing they are accumulating some funds for the postwar period when funds will probably be of greater value than they are now while wages are reasonably high and jobs are looking for men. I am entirely in favor of the increase to 100 per cent of the tax on excess profits with 20 per cent considered as a loan. When the budget was brought down last year I advocated such a course and can only say it has been a little late in being enforced."

PREMIER HART APPROVES

Premier John Hart today gave full approval to Finance Minister Isley's new budget.

"We must make an all-out effort to win this war," Mr. Hart said. "That effort requires financial sacrifices by everyone. These sacrifices, I am confident, will cheerfully be met by the Canadian people. I am wholeheartedly supporting Mr. Isley's budget."

W. L. Keate Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Lewis Keate, well-known in the lumber industry, died here today.

Born in Grand Rapids, Mich., he came to Vancouver in 1907.

Mackenzie King, Churchill Both Attending

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt today called a special meeting for tomorrow of the Pacific War Council, which Prime Minister Churchill and Prime Minister Mackenzie King will attend.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, in announcing the call, did not say for what purpose the meeting was arranged. There was to have been, however, a regular meeting of the council today.

Presence of King Boosts Importance

It was announced that Mr. Mackenzie King was en route here for the meeting. Special importance was believed to be attached to the meeting because of his planned attendance, since Canada usually is represented in council meetings by its minister here, Leighton McCarthy.

Besides the United States, Great Britain and Canada, other countries represented in the council are Australia, New Zealand, China, the Netherlands and the Philippines.

It was said the Canadian Prime Minister would remain here for later conferences after tomorrow's meeting.

At the last regular weekly meeting of the council a report was made on the Midway and Aleutian battles and indications later were given that some good news on the shipping situation might be expected.

Under-secretary Goes With Premier.

OTTAWA (CP)—A statement issued here today by Resources Minister Crerar, acting prime minister, said Prime Minister Mackenzie King had left Ottawa for a short visit to Washington to attend a meeting of the Pacific Council and for conferences afterward with Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill.

Mr. Crerar indicated Mr. Churchill had joined Mr. Roosevelt in the invitation to Mr. King, who presumably left by train.

Norman A. Robertson, under-secretary of state for external affairs, accompanied the Prime Minister.

It is Mr. King's first trip to Washington since last December when he went there on the occasion of Mr. Churchill's previous visit. At that time the British Prime Minister returned to Ottawa with him for a brief stay.

There has been no indication that Mr. Churchill plans another visit to Ottawa on his present stay in North America.

CHINESE FORCES RECAPTURE POINTS

Associated Press

China reported growing success in the bitter five-year-old war with Japan today as Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's armies were officially declared to have hurled back the western claw of Japanese pincers, captured three key points and killed or wounded 4,000 Japanese.

Chinese headquarters said the Chinese armies in Kiangsi province had recaptured Kwelki, thus repulsing the eastward Japanese drive which had come within 50 miles of closing the strategic Chekiang-Kiangsi railway.

Other Chinese troops were reported to have seized two outposts of Japanese-held Kwangfeng, and were described as directly menacing Kwangfeng itself.

Kwangfeng is an important base supplying Japanese columns driving westward into Kiangsi province, in eastern China.

Japanese dispatches said a strong new Japanese offensive was developing in Chekiang province, and that Lishui, "the last airport still in enemy hands in the province," was almost destroyed by aerial assault Tuesday.

Domei said Japanese troops "storming deep into the mountain fastnesses south of Wuyi and braving torrential rains" were making steady progress.

Wuyi is 28 miles southeast of Kihwa, Japanese-held capital of Chekiang province. Lishui is 32 miles south of Wuyi.

Labor Demands Justice Manson Quit War Board

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor has asked War Services Minister Thorson to demand that Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, chairman of the Vancouver divisional war services board, show "conclusive proof" of charges he made in a letter to the minister against Alan C. Wright, a labor organizer, "or publicly withdraw them."

The Congress also asks that Mr. Justice Manson be asked immediately to resign as chairman of the Vancouver board, "as he has shown that he is unfit to hold such a position."

The Congress of Labor's requests were contained in a letter to the minister signed by Norman S. Dowd, congress secretary.

Mr. Dowd referred in the letter to a Canadian Press story summarizing correspondence tabled in the Commons June 19, concerning Mr. Wright, who, prior to enlistment in the R.C.A.F., was an organizer at Vancouver for the steel workers' organizing committee, a Canadian Congress of Labor affiliate.

As indicated by the documents tabled, this man was visited by two R.C.M.P. officers, who asked to see his registration card, and on April 29 he received a call-up notice from the Vancouver division, Mr. Dowd said. "He made application for postponement to a war services board at Vancouver, of which Mr. Justice A. M. Manson was chairman, and this was refused. Subsequently, he came to Ottawa and brought the matter personally to your attention."

"As you stated in your letter of May 23 last to Mr. Justice Manson, it appeared to be a reasonable inference that his card had been transferred from division 'B' at Toronto to division 'K' at Vancouver for the purpose of giving the Vancouver board jurisdiction to order him to report for military training, and thereby to remove him from the labor activities in which he was engaged."

"The Canadian Congress of Labor wishes to express its appreciation of your letter, and particularly your ruling that the national war services regulations 'must not be made the instrument of settling disputes.'"

"We are particularly concerned, however, with the charges made by Mr. Justice Manson against Mr. Wright. He is quoted as saying that 'this man's activities have resulted in 25 per cent slowdown of production and some sabotage of tools and materials which are almost irreplaceable and certainly irreplaceable for some considerable time. My board realized this slowdown and sabotage might cost the lives of our own and allied men and might easily cause the loss of the finest ships in the British navy.'"

"This is an extremely serious indictment of a Canadian citizen, and the congress therefore wishes to urge in the strongest possible terms that Mr. Justice Manson be required to show conclusive proof of his statements, or publicly withdraw them. If such statements are true, Mr. Wright should have been dealt with by proper legal procedure."

"It is scarcely necessary to add that, in view of your own conclusion in this matter, and your action in cancelling the call-up, Mr. Justice Manson should be asked immediately to resign as chairman of the Vancouver divisional war services board, as he has shown that he is unfit to hold such a position."

New Zealand Hit By Severe Quake

WELLINGTON (CP)—A severe earthquake shook the North Island of New Zealand today. In Wellington the shock was the worst felt in many years. Chimneys were felled and windows were broken. No casualties were reported immediately.

North Island, where the cities of Wellington and Auckland are situated, had its worst earthquake of recent years Feb. 3, 1941, when several hundred persons were killed and 1,000 were injured in the town of Napier alone. Five towns in the Hawkes Bay area along the east coast were damaged severely at that time.

The same section had earthquakes causing considerable damage in September, 1932, and in March, 1934.

Sailor Tells Story

Tobruk Dive-bombed Before Capitulating

By LARRY ALLEN

ALEXANDRIA (AP)—Nazi dive bombers—sometimes 100 at a time—screamed down over Tobruk with their death-dealing missiles for two days before the first German units rumbled into the main streets of the fallen Libyan fortress.

The first German troops to enter headed straight for the harbor, hoping to destroy with their tank guns any British warships anchored in or near the inner harbor.

A vivid picture of Tobruk's last hours was given to me by a young British naval officer who left the port aboard a small patrol craft after the Germans had entered the town.

British naval units, he said, remained in the harbor "until the last horn blew," sending back hot answers to the Nazi tank guns. The big show really started about 5 p.m. June 20.

At that hour all the naval personnel under arms were ordered to stand by," he said.

"There were only a few small ships in the harbor, but these as well as the rest of Tobruk were bombed almost from the moment the Nazis cut off the east road outside Tobruk."

"At 7 o'clock I saw the first Nazi tanks reach the hill overlooking the harbor. Almost simultaneously, a group of five men, stragglers from the main army, scrambled down the hill and swam to our ship after shooting

New Regulations Announced

Caterers, Industrial Users Have Vouchers After July 1

OTTAWA (CP)—Regulations governing use of vouchers for sugar purchases by industrial users, public caterers and institutions under rationing regulations starting July 1 have been announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The voucher purchase method also applies for official purchases of sugar for the armed forces and extra amounts used by individual consumers for home preserving.

Retailers obtaining vouchers through these channels must turn them in to the board, along with consumer coupons surrendered by individuals, when obtaining further supplies from wholesalers.

Industrial users, public caterers, and institutions, the sugar order sets out, must register with the board and name their prospective supplier.

"No person may lawfully sell sugar to users so classified unless they are registered and have named the seller as their supplier," the order provides. "The latter must also obtain from such purchasers a completed purchase voucher."

Purchases by the munitions and supply department for the armed forces also require completion of the voucher forms.

Licensed merchants may sell sugar to consumers for home preserving "upon receiving a properly-completed voucher and signing the application." When refiners sell to wholesalers or retailers they must obtain a completed wholesale purchase certificate.

Regulations governing sale of sugar to beekeepers, lumber operators, construction and mining camps and for ships stores are also prescribed.

"Provincial apirators, on receipt of detailed information from ap-up a Nazi tank with a machine gun.

"Then I saw not only German tanks, but armored cars on the escarpment. We got the order to leave the harbor as the Germans were firing everything they had at our ship and planes dropped all types of bombs. There were explosions all around us."

SWAM ASHORE

"My ship was hit by a shell and I was forced to swim ashore. Then I saw all the ships leaving so I struck out and got aboard another vessel, but she too got hit by a shell. The ships in the harbor answered the fire of the tanks and bombing planes with pom-poms or whatever armament they had, but none of it was of large calibre."

"As we headed out to sea more Stukas came over. They bombed Tobruk, but didn't seem to hit anything that hadn't been hit before."

DESTROYED SUPPLIES

"Torpedomen on the navy demolition squads blew up everything of any use to the enemy before the ships got out of the harbor. There were many loud explosions and we could see huge columns of smoke."

The naval officer said the big break in British defences came from the eastern side after the dive bombers had wiped out British gun positions one by one. He said the fall of Tobruk came "as a complete surprise to the navy" and that ships continued to land supplies there until a few hours before its capitulation.

Coal Royalties In Britain Out

LONDON (CP)—The day of private ownership of British coal royalties is gone.

It was wiped out with the issuing of government compensation cheques in favor of royalty holders and totaling $66,450,000 ($301,025,000). Henceforward the state owns coal royalties.

This step means the end of an era started in 1568. It is a major preliminary move in formation of a concrete government policy for administering the coal mining industry to the general benefit of miners and the war program at a time when Britain needs 10,000,000 more tons of coal annually than there is available.

In 1568 the English courts ruled in a case, Queen Elizabeth vs. the Duke of Northumberland, that landowners' rights extended to the centre of the earth; that owners were entitled to the minerals under their soil, excepting silver and gold.

The decision assured fortunate property owners of thousands of pounds annually while somebody else worked the coal on their land.

BRITAIN TAKES OVER

From the buying-out date of July 1 ownership of all coal in Britain is vested in the coal commission on behalf of the state and, while collieries will continue to pay royalties, they will be paid to the Treasury. As compensation for their loss of rights, royalty owners will share $66,450,000, the equivalent of 15 years' net royalty revenue at $4,430,000 a year.

Coal royalty owners are allowed to claim for coal being worked and coal output which will be worked in the future, but claims on potential output, unless close to present-day workings, will realize little. There must be good reason for believing all coal on which compensation payments are to be made will be reached in 15 years and Britain's coal potential is figured as sufficient for 500 years.

Biggest royalty owners of all, the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, will lose one-third of their annual $370,000 revenue from coal. Others among principal royalty owners are the Duke of Hamilton, $113,000; Lord Bute, $109,000; Lord Tredegar, $74,000; Duke of Northumberland, $69,000; Lord Dunraven, $58,000; Lord Durham, $35,000, and Lord Ellesmere, $26,000.

Italian Claims

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts, AP)—The Italian high command today claimed 33,000 prisoners were taken in the capture of Tobruk and the mop-up of British resistance in that area. (This was an increase of 5,000 from the previous German-Italian figure on prisoners at the port.)

"There has been local activity of our advanced elements on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier," a communiqué said.

for export within the Empire, the manufacture of products for the defence departments, munitions and supply or Red Cross, or in the manufacture of products for canteens and messes, barracks and dockyards, signed for by an officer in authority.

RULES FOR EXPORTS

No industrial user is permitted to export to other than Empire countries a quantity of any product in which sugar or sweetened condensed milk was used, in excess of 70 per cent of the total exported during the corresponding quarter of 1941.

Although institutions—and certain employers permitted to register as such—make their sugar purchases by voucher, they are to collect coupons from the ration cards of all residents and forward them at least once a month to the nearest office of the board. A person is deemed to be a "resident" of an institution on residing there two weeks or longer.

Churchill Faces Heaviest Censure Of His Career

LONDON (CP)—When Prime Minister Churchill returns from the United States to report to the House of Commons he will probably hear the bitterest criticism of his career, but newspapers predicted today that he would retain firm control of the government barring further critical military losses.

The disquiet displayed Tuesday in the Commons was "more serious than that after the fall of Singapore" when Mr. Churchill's government was given a 464-to-1 vote of confidence, the Yorkshire Post declared.

"This is the most serious personal issue Mr. Churchill has faced since he became prime minister," the London Daily Mirror said. "It will undoubtedly mean the heaviest adverse vote the government has had to face."

"The government," said the Daily Mail, "is faced with all the possibilities of a serious political revolt."

The London Times expressed belief the forthcoming motion in the House to censure the military direction of the war would not get much support beyond its original 25 to 30 signers. The Times pointed out that these, in the main, were the same members who have been critical of the government for months.

"Indications are that the adverse vote likely will be comparatively small," said Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express.

"The attack of rebel M.P.'s cannot succeed," said the London Star, "termining the proposed motion 'a free and ill-advised gift to Dr. Gobbels' not supported by any general public recrimination."

The group of backbenchers who drafted the censure motion is headed by Sir John Wardlaw-Milne, Conservative. They state they have "no confidence in the central direction and strategy of the war."

Dimond Presses For 'A' Route Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—The threat made by the Japanese in their invasion of the Aleutian Islands has led Delegate Dimond of Alaska to propose the construction of a coastal highway to Alaska with the greatest possible speed.

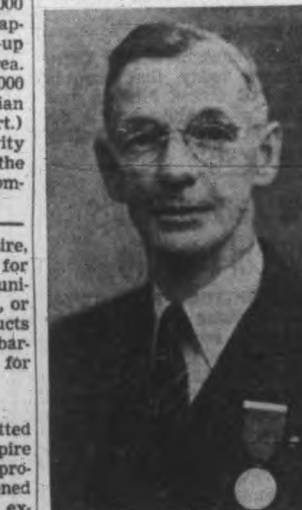

Dimond Tuesday introduced legislation in the House of Representatives which would direct the President to order construction of the highway along the "A" route from Prince George, B.C., to Whitehorse, Y.T., recommended by the Alaskan International Highway Commission.

The legislation calls for an appropriation for $23,000,000 for the road.

"Pressing need exists for the immediate construction of a highway to connect the United States with the territory of Alaska over which supplies, materials and equipment of all kinds, principally for military use, can be transported," he said.

Dimond said there are very grave doubts as to the successful use of the highway already under construction in northwestern Canada as a supply route. That road will go across northeastern British Columbia, connecting with a road from Edmonton.

'Plenty of Men Left'—Ralston

Need Overseas Army To Pin Hitler Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons today that national security must come before national unity if the two come into conflict in Canada.

Speaking in the resumed debate on the bill to amend the National Resources Mobilization Act to permit conscription for overseas service by order-in-council, the minister said he wished to afford every opportunity to those who had an aversion to compulsory service overseas. But he added:

"We are facing the possibility of fighting for our very existence, and if considerations of national unity should come into conflict with measures for our national security and existence, then surely it is security of the nation which must count—and by that I mean the security of all the nation, both the majority and the minority."

"It may be that if the test comes we shall find our national unity in the mutual support which we shall have to give each other and which will be imperative by reason of the instinct of self-preservation itself."

WARNS OF SHORTAGE

Col. Ralston warned Canadians would have to do without some ordinary civilian commodities so men now engaged in civilian production can be released for more important work.

He said it was "needlessly timorous" to suggest there must be some serious consideration as to where men for the army might be raised simply because single men up to 30 years old were nearly exhausted. There were "still those from 30 to 45, still those from 19 to 21 and still the married class of all the ages from 19 to 45."

Canada could not win the war without its army. Men above or below military age should be moved into the factories to release fit men. There would have to be a great movement of women to factories to take the place of men.

There was nothing sinister about conscription. Between 30,000 and 35,000 men now training or serving in Canada had been conscripted. He would prefer to see the Canadian army overseas as a volunteer force, but if it were necessary to require men to serve overseas there would be no alternative and the men must be sent.

Compulsory service for overseas would have to be applied without fear or favor whenever its use would aid in the achievement of the maximum war effort. The education needed by Canadians was a lesson in geography "to show how easy it would be for Hitler to hop across here if he were not pinned down by the constant dread of the British Isles."

WOULD END DEBATE

Capt. L. A. Mutch, Liberal, Winnipeg South, said there should be no more debate on conscription. The responsibility would lie on the shoulders of the government after the bill was approved.

F. D. Shaw, New Democracy, Red Deer, Alta., said the country was becoming impatient with Parliament, which had "toyed" with the manpower question for five months. Conscription had been stepped in politics so long it was misunderstood. It meant only the effective organization of resources.

Charles Parent, Liberal, Quebec West, said he had campaigned for a "no" vote on the manpower plebiscite, and the "no" vote in Quebec meant the people did not want conscription, and also that "Baptists were fed up with broken pledges."

Armand Cloutier, Liberal, Drummond, Athabasca, Que., told the House he had been against the manpower plebiscite, and was even more strongly against the bill providing for conscription.

German Claims

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The German high command claimed today "remnants of the Russian forces still resisting on the extreme tip of an isthmus north of Sevastopol Bay, in the Sevastopol area," had been annihilated and that from June 7 to last Monday 11,000 prisoners had been taken at Sevastopol.

In the same period, the communiqué claimed, the Russians had lost 158 guns. Earth and concrete pillboxes captured were listed at 2,014.

BUILD NEW PORT ON PERSIAN GULF

BASRA, Iraq. (AP)—Construction of a new Persian Gulf port to speed supplies to Russia is being pushed vigorously by American noncombatants on a site that previously was nothing but sand and swamp.

Hundreds of bombers, thousands of trucks and much other material have passed through the Persian Gulf to Soviet armies by means of the elaborate organization built up to insure their rapid transport.

The time required to turn about the ships which bring supplies has been reduced by half, according to well-informed sources.

American engineers are engaged in other important developments in the Persian Gulf area, and the British are completing various rail projects, including a link to connect Teheran, the Iran capital, with Tabriz in the north. This will complete an all-rail route from the gulf to Batum, the Caucasian oil centre, Tiflis and Moscow.

At one base, American bombers which are ferried over the south Atlantic, then across Africa and Asia Minor in surprisingly few hops, are speedily put into shape for the Russians. Soviet airman then take them up on their last lap to the battlelines.

Gallup Poll

Pro-Conscription Sentiment
Holds Slight Upward Trend

TORONTO—A slight increase in the number of Canadians favoring conscription for overseas service is shown by results of the latest survey by the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll). This continues the slowly rising trend of opinion which started in March, and brings the percentage favoring conscription close to the high recorded in mid-December, 1941.

In every one of these surveys, the question has been the same: "If you were asked to vote to-day on the question of conscription for overseas service, would you vote for it, or against it?"

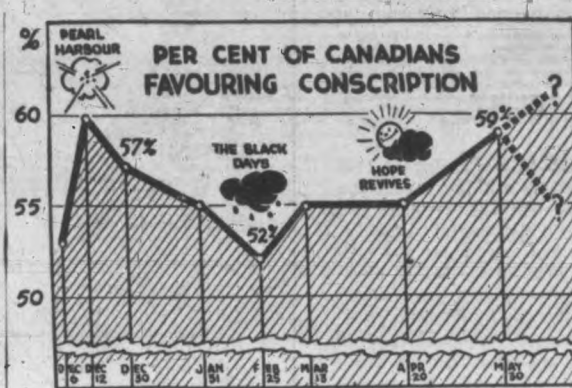

Here is the way opinion has divided on the issue from time to time since the Gallup Poll first started gauging opinion early in December:

	In Favor Per cent	Opposed Per cent	Undecided Per cent
1941—
December 6	53	35	12
December 12	60	30	10
December 30	57	34	9
1942—
January 31	55	35	10
February 25	52	37	11
March 13	55	37	8
April 20	55	36	9
Today	59	33	8

On the basis of its experience in measuring public opinion trends, the institute believes that too much emphasis should not be placed on the variations shown by this table. In reality, while it does show a slight fluctuation in opinion over the past six months, this fluctuation is not large compared to the way public opinion shifts on some issues. In effect, therefore, the record of public thinking on conscription has been fairly consistent.

FOLLOWS THE NEWS

What changes in public sentiment there have been, reflect fairly clearly the general tenor of the news. A few days after Pearl Harbor, and before the extent of the Japanese "success" in that affair had sunk in, pro-conscription sentiment reached its highest point, with 60 per cent of Canadians in favor. Then the black significance of the Japanese treachery at Pearl Harbor, and the enemy's subsequent suc-

Oregon D.A. Says

Canadian Japs
Would Aid Nippon

If Canadian or United States-born Japanese refused to aid Japanese nationals attacking this coast, they would be the first to go before Japanese firing squads, Carl C. Donagh, U.S. District Attorney for Oregon, said Tuesday while describing why it was necessary to evacuate all Japanese from the coast.

Mr. Donagh spoke at the Kiwanis Club luncheon, attended by delegates to the Pacific Coast International Association of Law Enforcement Officers, of which he is secretary-treasurer-elect.

The Japanese government, Mr. Donagh said, considers any Japanese born in the United States or Canada, as owing a duty to Tokyo, and that government would not tolerate any disloyalty.

"For this reason we are interning and evacuating all Japanese to maintain the public peace and safety," he said.

Of the 127,000 Japanese in the U.S., he said, 117,000 live on the Pacific Coast. He said the problem had no precedent because United States and Canada had never before been subject to air attacks and this was the first time it had been found necessary to evacuate such large bodies of people.

"We consider all of them, willingly or unwillingly, wittingly or unwittingly, are potentially dangerous during this war," he said. "The Japanese are probably the most nationalistic race on the face of the earth today."

BLACK DRAGON SOCIETY

Mr. Donagh said it was impossible to distinguish aliens from first or second generation Japanese. Many of the Japanese in California, Oregon and Washington, he said, at one time or another had been, or still were, members of the Black Dragon Society.

He said members of this organization, which during peacetime tried to maintain Japanese solidarity and prevent Americanization, would not hesitate to commit murder or put themselves at the disposal of their Tokyo leader during war.

Members of the Buddhist and Shinto churches, which are dominated by the Japanese government, since the Mikado is not only head of the state but also considered a deity, had been found subversive, he said.

Mentioning a specific case uncovered in California, Mr. Donagh said: "They don't graduate overnight from the position of chief of police in Japan to a Buddhist priest in California without some ulterior motive."

Japanese living in Canada and the United States are constantly kept in line with Tokyo through the threat of persecution of their relatives living in Japan, he said.

May Fight Allies

VICHY (AP)—The former Legion of Volunteers Against Bolshevism, rechristened the Tricolor Legion, "will fight against American imperialism and Anglo-Saxon greed" as well as against the Russians, according to an announcement carried by the Nazi-controlled press.

The force will consist of "legionnaire units which may be sent everywhere French interests are involved—in Europe as in Africa," said the Paris newspaper Aujourd'hui in headlines bigger than those telling of "Pierre Laval's speech calling for Frenchmen to go to work in Germany."

This newspaper described the legion as "an enlarged, officialized legion of French volunteers." Thanks to it, tomorrow Mers-el-Kebir, Dakar, Damascus and Diego Suarez will be avenged and the English punished for their crimes and their rapine.

Success Over Holland

R.A.F. Intruder Pilot
Bags 2 Nazi Planes

LONDON (CP)—By a lucky "two-birds-with-one-stone" freak, a British intruder pilot who shot down one German plane was credited today with destroying another in a patrol Tuesday night over a Nazi airbase in Holland.

In all, the night's operations cost the enemy three planes, although the only hostile air activity over this country was a small-scale raid on East Anglia in which, a communique said, there was "neither damage nor casualties."

Bad flying weather again kept the R.A.F.'s big bombers on the ground. Some bombers laid mines in German waters during the night and railroads and air-dromes were attacked in fighter-plane forays over northern France and the Netherlands, the communique announced. Two British bombers failed to return.

One German bomber was downed off the east coast and a second was reported by the Air Ministry news service to have been hit by the R.A.F. intruder pilot over its Netherlands base.

Intruder pilots are so called because they hover over enemy airfields, picking off planes as they land or take off.

The German pilot started to climb, evidently trying to gain safe altitude for bailing out, the report said, "but he crashed into another enemy aircraft and immediately the fighter pilot saw the debris of the two machines shower to the ground."

Britain's lighter Boston bombers, escorted by Spitfires, dealt a twilight blow yesterday to "objectives in enemy occupied territory" after an afternoon raid in which bombs struck the waterfront, including railroad tracks and a large enemy supply ship, at Dunkerque, the Air Ministry announced.

It said all the bombers returned, but one fighter was missing from the later foray after an encounter over the Channel in which two enemy interceptor planes were shot down.

Drys and Puritans

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Forces trying to shove through Congress the so-called Sheppard bill, which would prohibit all kinds of beer, wine, liquor and prostitution at or within a "reasonable distance" of any army, navy, marine or air base, have had to revise their strategy and the likelihood that anything will be done about this bill for some months is rather remote.

The stage had been all set for a public hearing in the caucus room of the Senate office building, on June 22, Senator Theodore Gilmore (the man) Bilbo of Poplarville, Miss., was the name around which this hearing was to rally, and the invitation went out on stationery of the Senate committee on agriculture and forestry, of which Bilbo is a member, although the Sheppard bill is before the committee on military affairs and, logically, any hearings should have been called by this latter committee.

In other words, there has been more to this crusade to dry up and purify the camps than meets the eye. It was Bilbo whose name was used to call the hearing, and it was Bilbo who issued the statement calling it off. It was Bilbo's political advice which dictated this strategy of a delay-line action on the grounds that with Congress now going into a two-months' series of recesses, it

Total War's Interim Bill

JUST BEFORE THE NEW WAR SAVINGS Certificates campaign began last October we said in these columns that unless Canadians loaned their money to the government voluntarily, and in regular liberal amounts, the guardian of the national treasury would be compelled to devise a method of extracting it from pockets and bank balances by legal process. Not that any intelligent person was under the delusion that the purchase of these symbols of our belief in ourselves would represent much beyond a token payment of our share in the common cause against the Axis powers. But the point the War Savings Committee never failed to emphasize was that the impact of additional, inevitable, and direct taxation would be determined to some extent at least by the attitude of the public toward this and other voluntary financing plans. Mr. Isley has now taken the only course open to him; the budget he presented to Parliament last night has never seen its like in Canada before.
Nobody escapes. He has told everybody how much more they must pay out of this year's earnings than they paid from those of 1941.
Canadians have asked for total war; the Minister of Finance has given them a new idea of what it will cost Canada to run her share of it for the next 12 months.

Two years ago the British Chancellor of the Exchequer scoffed at John Maynard Keynes' compulsory saving plan. Last year Britain adopted the scheme in part. Mr.
Isley is following suit. Like his opposite number in the Churchill cabinet, the Dominion Minister of Finance accepts the fact that the gap between government receipts and government expenditure must be shortened as much as possible by marrying the orthodox system of financing to a combination formula that will include a scheme of allowances to cover the cost of illness and much of that which usually accompanies disability in the household. Elsewhere in this issue of the Times will be found the details of the plan and how it works out in various categories of taxpayers—how it is proposed to lump the national defence tax with the personal income tax, collectible at its source by instalment, and what amounts will be regarded by the government as a loan for the duration of the war.

Most of us had better admit that we had taken financing in a much too leisurely fashion. Early War Savings Certificates campaigns, despite all the arguments advanced by a whole army of willing workers, did not get the attention and support they deserved—in our own interest. We were not sold on the fact that it was good business to loan money to the government voluntarily at 3 per cent. Now the government will attend to it for us and, of course, take a still larger bite at the weekly pay cheque.
The compulsorily-saved dollars, incidentally, will help to cushion our personal and household economy during the period of transition from war to peace. We can then draw upon the sums which the government had used to help to produce victory for the United Nations. In other words, Canadian taxpayers are betting against the Axis; its defeat means the return of their wages, plus 2 per cent interest. Triumph of the enemy would put us all in the same boat no matter what Mr. Isley does now or later on.

Inadequacy of space here, of course, prohibits detailed discussion of anything beyond the moral of Mr. Isley's budget proposals.
But another allusion to last year's War Savings Certificates campaign would appear to be pertinent. For example, the 800,000 people of British Columbia were asked to buy $1,000,000 worth of these 3 per cent symbols of our faith in Canada every month. At that period no fewer than 100,000 workers were in gainful employment, drawing a weekly pay cheque, sufficient in most cases to maintain a fairly high standard of life.
Provincial liquor stores were taking in about $1,500,000 a month for potent liquid refreshments. To be sure, the spending of one's money is one's own business; but the man who has to find the cash to pay for the wherewithal to strengthen our bid for actual survival naturally noted that expenditure.

When the multiplicity of factors which Mr. Isley has had to consider are analyzed, therefore, it will be recognized by all Canadians that the size of the interim bill for their share of the total war against the common enemy has been drawn up in the face of stern realities by which this and all the United Nations are confronted. He has done a fine and brave job. It is consequently our duty, and should be regarded as our privilege, to forego much of the easy way of life to which we have grown accustomed—if only because by so adjusting ourselves we are making a contribution to a common cause that, after all, pales into insignificance when placed side by side with the physical, mental and material sacrifices made and still being made by the people who know by intimate and painful personal contact what total war means.

Another war development is that the yellow with a job is making about three times as much as the fellow with a position.

Submarine Cruisers

COL. RALSTON TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS that the shelling of Estevan on our west coast Saturday night was probably the work of two submarines, not just one. The deduction was based on the rate of fire. There is a possibility, however, that it was the work of only one submarine mounting two guns instead of the usual one carried by a submarine. No information is available in naval books as to the equipment of the latest types of Japanese submarines, but it is known that they are large enough to carry two guns.

In 1937 Japan had a dozen submarine cruisers of 2,000 to 2,200 tons. No details of launchings since have been published by the Japanese government. However, there have been indications that Japan has been building larger submarines since of a tonnage approaching that of the largest United States submarines, rated between 2,700 and 3,000 tons. To give an idea of what this tonnage means, it may be said that the Princess Adelaide and the Princess Alice of the C.P.R.'s coastal fleet are both 3,000-ton ships, while the Princess Charlotte is only 3,884 tons. Naval authorities believe that Japan may now have more than a score of these large cruising submarines. The cruising range of this type is 16,000 miles or more, which would be equal to crossing the Pacific three times. As the distance from Yokohama to Puget Sound is 5,000 miles, these submarines after crossing the Pacific would have fuel for the equivalent of 6,000 miles on this coast and then enough left to return to Japan.

The crew of one of the merchant ships attacked not far from Cape Flattery, said what hit the ship did not sound like a torpedo. If a torpedo were not used, it would be in keeping with what is known of the attack strategy of the Japanese cruising submarines. Japanese cruising submarines have been listed as fitted with fewer torpedo tubes than are the submarines of other navies. They have had only six tubes as against 10 in the United States navy. The explanation is that the Japanese submarines have been designed to carry fuel and a large stock of gun shells for long-range operations.
This being the case, it would not be surprising to learn that these large submarine cruisers mount two guns and that in their operations on this coast they are more likely to attack ships with shell fire than by torpedo.

Passing Phase

SOME TIME AGO CANADA WITNESSED the fantastic spectacle of a two-man campaign to "conscript" Lieut.-General A. G. L.
McNaughton for Prime Minister. Hard-headed Canadians, of course, did not take it seriously; it fizzled out. Almost at the same time "Draft MacArthur for President Clubs" began to make their appearance in the United States which did, and are still doing, according to one authority, "immeasurable diservice both to the cause of democracy and to the hero of the Philippines himself."
We read further:

"We hope he (General MacArthur) will take strong steps to repudiate the movement.
The task given to General MacArthur is of surpassing importance. Even more vital is it that he should remain untarnished as a symbol of American military valor. But no man can run or be run for the Presidency without having every casual indiscretion of his life broadcast to the winds, and every real achievement belittled. This must not happen to MacArthur. The indomitable spirit of American arms which he personi-fies is infinitely more valuable than his candidacy for President possibly could be."

General McNaughton and General Mac-Arthur are soldiers who have made enviable names for themselves in their chosen fields.
The progress of the war to date, especially the events of recent months—has proved that the United Nations have no surplus of generals of the calibre of McNaughton and MacArthur. Probably both would be complete failures in the science of government.

Notes

It seems there are still too many fellows who want to get into the war without taking any chances.

The restful shipboard voyage is out for the duration, but one can tackle the never-ending problem of the folding deck chair on any back lawn.

Cost of living in Britain has risen 29 per cent since the start of the war in 1939. Canada has kept the increase down to 15 per cent, thanks to the imposing of a price-celling law in time.

LIDICE

From New York Times

It would be silly to change German names on the map or the menu because we are at war with the current German government. Some good and great Germans have had towns or streets named after them in this country. Kindliness and friendliness are in the bill of fare.

Admitted—but let us look over the map of the United States and find, as we can, some towns or streets bearing German names that do not have pleasant associations.
Then let us turn our thoughts to the horrible deed of which the Berlin radio boasted:
the destruction of a Bohemian town, the butchery of all its adult males, the carrying off into slavery, or worse, of the women and children. The Nazis brag that they have "extinguished" the name of that community.
Let them be answered.

We propose to some community which has a German map-name it does not need the substitution of the name of that heroic, martyred town: Lidice.

RELATIVITY

NEWS, AS HAS BEEN PROVED over and over again, is a commodity purely relative. You gauge it not on its own merits but entirely on its relation to other news occurring at the same time; just as a man who has just hit his thumb with a hammer will not be much interested in the story of his neighbor whose head has been hit by a falling bomb. The thing most urgent to the individual himself comes first; with the result that world news is usually kept entirely out of perspective by the great masses of the public.

I can remember in the spring of 1940 landing into Winnipeg and the lads at the Free Press saying that the Germans had reached the English Channel at Abbeville.
They knew what that meant, but the public's mind was focused on the British army in Belgium and Abbeville disappeared from the front pages after one timid entrance.

In the same fashion Singapore received more attention at the time than the whole Russian campaign, which was far greater and far more vital; while the Chinese, who have been performing a major part of the war effort of the Allies for more than five years, can hardly get on the front pages at all, most days.

UP NORTH

THIS SAME THEORY of relativity applies to the latest news. In the excitement over Tobruk no one seems to have noticed that the Japanese have taken Kiska and are now more than halfway across the Great Circle of the north Pacific. This is not to suggest that the fall of Tobruk is not the most important news of the day, but in perspective the fall of Kiska surely is an event of terrible import; but it is passed over with a shrug by authoritative sources in Washington, as if it didn't matter. The weather, they say, was all wrong, and therefore the Japanese took Kiska; which reminds one of the mentality of the man who, lying on the beach, was told by some excited children that his wife was drowning nearby, and replied calmly that he was not married and went on reading his paper.

Had there been no fall of Tobruk, the fall of Kiska probably would have been sensational news to the public as, indeed, it was to every military strategist. The clever statesman has long recognized the principle inherent here and often creates diversion of interest so that he may proceed with some unpopular project hardly suspected by the public. Bismarck used that system continually and would even start a fierce row at home against himself so that he could do something abroad which would be overlooked in the excitement. I fancy the famous N.R.A. in the United States was largely an attempt to take the people's mind off the depression for there could hardly be, any other reason, since the thing was unsound in principle, in economics and, finally, in law.

COMPLICATED

THERE MUST BE some mathematical law governing the relativity of news as there is covering the relativity of space and matter, if you could only find it; but in news the theory is far more complicated than that elaborated by Einstein in space and matter, and only five men knew what Einstein was talking about. But the examples of the process are clear enough.

The results generally are apt to be dangerous. Thus you found the American people lifted to an ecstasy of delight over the Coral Sea Battle until you would have thought, in Washington, that the war would be over before Christmas; and in the excitement few stopped to realize that the drive on Russia had not yet begun and apparently no one knew that the drive on Suez was just beginning and would become dangerous within a few weeks to the whole program of the war. And then, the Americans were so delighted with the great victory of Midway that when the Japanese cut into the Aleutian Islands, within easy bombing distance of the Alaskan mainland, there was not much more than a shrug in Washington and in the newspapers. This, though we are not yet within easy bombing distance of Japan or anything like it.

In the old days we used to run newspapers on the assumption that distance was the chief governing factor in news interest.
If a dog fight occurred in the same street
the reader was supposed to be more interested in it than in a prize fight three blocks off. But there seems to be more to it than that. Or how explain why there is so little interest in the Aleutians which are at our very door and may be the doorstep for the Japanese? No, the public's interest is compounded not only of distance but of hope and fear. If the news has a tinge of hope in it, as in the Coral Sea and Midway, then it is big and interesting; or if it has a tinge of disaster, as at Tobruk. But if it is just plain important, as at Kiska, you can shrug and blame the weather.

Gross indebtedness often is due to gross neglect.

A clam found here yesterday in a commercial chowder appeared to be a retard.

A psychologist says women are better liars than men. Oh, well, they don't have to tell so many.

Parallel Thoughts

Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak.—Mark 14:38.

The devil tempts us not—its we tempt him, reckoning his skill with opportunity.— George Eliot.

SIDE GLANCES

"Poor Joe!" He sort of gave up after he was turned down by the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

One Man, One Vote

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

It is not minority rights in Canada which are causing the present trouble—it is that French-Canada, either openly or tacitly, is claiming the right to overrule or veto the verdict of the majority. It is claiming the right to be a minority and a majority at one and the same time.

It is claiming, in fact, though not verbally, that the vote of one French-Canadian youth is worth the votes of four Canadians of the English tongue. That is a proposition which would sooner or later destroy any country.

Hence there was real good in Mr. Crerar's recent warning. Its real weakness was that it does not go far enough. French-Canada should be told, so plainly that even a half-wit could understand, that it can only retain its minority rights if it foregoes its attempts to overrule the majority.

MR. KING NO TRAITOR

One man writes me in all earnestness that Mr. King has deliberately planned all this impasse—and that he correctly foresees that the net result will be amalgamation of Canada and the United States. That, of course, is nonsense and grossly unjust to Mr. King.

If Mr. King had wanted to take Canada into the United States he could have moved her far further in that direction by much simpler and direct means than those suspected. Mr. King is an astute politician. But he is no Machiavelli.

But there are others who have helped get the country to the present deadlock who do want English-speaking Canada to fold up, quit and join the United States. This is the small but clever clique of schemers in French-Canada which yearns for the day when it will rule a Vichylike French state in Quebec and the adjacent parts of Canada where the French-speaking population is numerous.

It is this little nest of clever fellows which should be taught a lesson by action as well as by words.

All French-Canada should be told as plainly as anything can be expressed in any language that whatever happens the English-speaking majority will not permit them to smash the present set-up and then establish a French-Canadian separate Vichy.

All French-Canada should be told that we are going to stay linked together—that they might succeed in smashing the present constitution, but that if they do, we are going to take them or keep them with us wherever we go.

LIKE IT OR LUMP IT

The reason why French-Canadians have always feared absorption into the United States (although Laurier favored it in his early years) is that they know what would happen to their minority privileges. There are no state-supported separate Catholic schools in the United States.
There is only one language. There is no recognition of any church, on a semi-established basis.

Above all—there is no fooling around with any minority when the United States goes to war.
Everybody is drafted—not only of any tongue and religion, but also whether a citizen or not.

So Mr. Crerar and other outspoken English-speaking Liberals render a real national service when they remind French-Canada that, while there may be some things they do not relish in the present set-up in Canada, their lot would be very different as one state in the United States union.

The French-Canadian is a pretty sensible fellow when his trusted leaders give him all the facts.

That is the greatest of political facts in Canada today. The English-speaking majority will not forever put up with the attempts of French-Canada to overstep the limits of the rights of the minority.

STRIKES IN THE U.S.

From New York Sun

How effective is the 100 per cent no-strike pledge given by the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O.? The total number of man days lost in January and February, 1942, shows a decrease of 62 per cent as compared with the same two months of 1941. If the calculation is made on the basis of the number of workers involved, the decrease in January and February is only 48 per cent as compared with the same two months of 1941. The number of strikes declined only 34 per cent. Out of the total number of workers on strike in January and February, 1942, namely 82,099, there were 37,157 or about 45.3 per cent
among C.I.O. members and 34,245 or about 41.7 per cent among the A.F. of L. members. But if the number of strikes alone is counted, the A.F. of L. shows it.

British, U.S. Troops Get Equal Priorities

LONDON (CP) — Oliver Lyttelton, minister of state in charge of production, told the House of Commons today that henceforth British and United States troops operating in the same theatre of war would have equal priority on supplies from the United States. Reporting on his recent mission to Washington, Capt. Lyttelton said the new combined production and resources board is at work integrating the total resources of the two countries and planning war production in such a way as to effect the greatest economy of shipping. Mr. Lyttelton said the idea was to have weapons of types which could be used by the forces of both countries, manufactured wherever facilities were most convenient.

Harold MacMillan, Colonial Under-Secretary, told the House rubber production is being intensified in Ceylon and east and west Africa in the hope "that we may help fill the gap before great production of synthetic rubber begins in the United States."

Reminding the House that Britain had lost 90 per cent of the world's rubber production and 60 per cent of tin production, and other important raw materials, Mr. MacMillan said colonial output must be increased "on an immense scale."

Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary Gives Fine Service To Men of Forces

A wonderful record of service to the men of the forces, who use the Y.M.C.A., a service which includes such housewifely tasks as the making of dozens of beds each day, was revealed in the annual report of the Ladies' Auxiliary to that institution Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Donald McAdie, who was re-elected president, in her review of the year noted that the attendance of men of the three services at the Y.M.C.A. had totaled 43,624; 34,076 cups of tea and coffee had been given free to the men and 4,643 men had attended the Saturday evening moving picture shows.

MAKE BEDS

Members of the auxiliary have continued their work of making beds, serving tea and coffee daily and in many ways assisting with supplies and comforts for the Y.M.C.A. Linen has been supplied, new furnishings provided and repairs done. The work of the canteen has grown in scope and it has been open each day from 3 to 5 o'clock and from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening. Cakes and biscuits have also been supplied with the tea and coffee, all free of charge. This work will be continued throughout the summer months.

Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, reporting for the dormitory committee, recorded that 10,684 beds had been rented during the year. Mrs. E. G. Rowbottom, the treasurer, announced the total receipts had amounted to $302.77. The money for carrying on the work of the auxiliary had been raised by means of a membership silver tea, a linen shower and tea and donations.

Mrs. S. J. Willis, convener of the war services to the forts, gave a detailed account of the work done for the men at the Y.M.C.A. hut and at Fort Mary Hill at Christmas, entertainment and Christmas trees, as well as furnishings and magazines, having been supplied.

Officers chosen for the year were: President, Mrs. Donald McAdie; first vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Dixon; second vice-president, Mrs. R. D. McCaw; third vice-president, Mrs. D. H. Hartness; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. J. Watson; recording secretary, Mrs. A. S. Lock; treasurer, Mrs. E. G. Rowbottom.

Says State Health Is Coming Nearer

MONTREAL (CP)—Although no important developments have taken place along the lines of health insurance and nursing service since the last convention, co-operative plans have been made by industry to provide for medical care and hospitalization. Miss Alice Ahern of Ottawa, chairman of health insurance and nursing service, reported today at the Canadian nurses' convention which concludes Friday.

Miss Ahern said that in some cities in Alberta, physicians offer all ordinary medical services on a year contract basis. In British Columbia, daily newspapers have outlined plans for health services, one of which is nursing in home and hospital.

MISS BEATRICE SUTTON, of the teaching staff of the Victoria High School, who has been granted indefinite leave to take up her new duties as an examiner under the Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canada, Department of Munitions. Miss Sutton, who has been teaching commercial course at the High School since last September, left today for Powell River to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sutton, before proceeding to Hamilton, Ont., where she will undergo special training. Her desire to help Canada's war effort involves a sacrifice as she will receive less pay in her new job than as a commercial teacher, but she intends to resume her profession after the war.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Edna Hooper, assisted the hostess in serving tea, the table being centred with a bowl of roses. About 50 guests were entertained during the afternoon.

Seats are selling rapidly for the "Celebrity Parade" to be staged at the Royal Victoria Theatre on July 4, and the office of the Air Cadet League, where tickets are being sold, has been kept busy since the sale opened Monday morning. Onus of Getting Sugar Card Rests On Housewives

OTTAWA—Thursday you will apply for your first sugar ration card. If you neglect to put in your application you will not be able to purchase sugar after July 1.

Moreover, if you, the Canadian housewife, do not see to it that every member of your family is included on the application form, you may find yourself short of ration cards next week and be unable to get enough sugar for your table.

Sugar rationing by coupon affects the housewife more than anyone else. Without one ration card for her husband, another for her small boy, a further one for the baby—in fact one for every individual member of her household, she will not be able to get her share of sugar.

Remember that all the members of the household with the same last name will be listed on one application card. Anyone in the household with a different name should have his name put on a separate application card.

If the postman does not leave sufficient application forms to take care of all those of different last names in your household, ask him for the required extra number or get them at the post office. If a member of your family is holidaying away from home, include his name on the application form you fill out and notify him that his application has been made.

The onus rests on the individual to see that an application is made in his name, and to make certain that no second application is made on his behalf.

Every housewife in the city is urged to see that a member of her family is at home Thursday evening (June 25) between the hours of 6 and 10. If you live in the city where there are postal walks, a canvasser will call on you some time during those hours to collect your application card and check it to make sure it is filled out properly.

If you live in the country on a rural mail route, you will mail your application card to the nearest post office. If you live in a village or other area where you regularly go to the post office for your mail, you will return your card to the post office, where it will be checked by the postmaster.

The receipts will be divided between the Red Cross Society and the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute emergency kitchen fund. The accompanist for the evening will be Mrs. T. Raper.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Farey, Frances Avenue, entertained at a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Simms, nee Nellie Temple, whose marriage took place recently in Vancouver. The bride received a corsage of roses and delphinium, and the many gifts were concealed in a decorated basket topped with roses. Community singing and vocal solos by Miss E. Middleton were enjoyed. A miniature bride holding a shower bouquet formed the centrepiece for the supper table. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Simms, Mr. and Mrs. George Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. W. Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. William Simms, Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gray, Mesdames Sylvia Bryant, Enid Middleton, Larsen (Seattle), Arthur Corry, T. Shortage of Food And Gas in Eire Victorians who are prone to find gas and sugar rationing like some would do well to compare their fortunate lot with the people of Eire. Mrs. H. A. Hincks of Langford has received a letter from a friend in Dun Laoghaire, formerly Kingston, telling of the many deprivations which they are facing owing to the war. Gas for cooking or lighting purposes can now be used only between the hours of 5.30 to 8 a.m. from 11.30 to 1.30 and from 6 till 7 p.m. on weekdays, and on Sundays between the hours of 7.30 to 9 a.m., 10.30 to 1.30 and 6 to 7 p.m. Candles are scarce and very dear, and the consumption of electricity is restricted to a certain amount and between certain times.

No gasoline is obtainable for private cars. To add to the difficulties of travel, the trains are running unsatisfactorily owing to the use of peat for fuel, no satisfactory coal being available. A butter train from Cork to Dublin, which usually takes half a day to make the journey, took five days on the trip.

Food is also a problem. No oatmeal or corn flakes are to be had. Only half an ounce of tea per person per week is allowed, and with rice at 43 cents per pound, ground rice and semolina 41 cents per pound and all other food at proportionately high prices, housekeeping is a difficult and expensive matter.

Sorority Postpones Week-end Retreat

Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. F. Rough, in the chair. Correspondence included a very interesting letter from Maquinna Daniels now serving with the air force (W.D.) in Lethbridge. It was found necessary to postpone the week-end retreat at Shawinigan Lake, but a vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. T. Hammond for her invitation and a suggestion made that the retreat be held in September.

Time spent in war work during the summer should be reported to Miss Muriel Knight war service convener, in order that credits might be recorded. It was announced that work at the salvage depot is suffering from lack of helpers and the members were urged to give assistance. Members were also requested to carry on with the knitting of squares for the Red Cross during the holidays. Miss Jean Wilson conducted a cultural program on the "Art of Thinking." Members were reminded of the social evening at the president's home, 2668 Estevan Road, at 7.30 Monday, June 29.

The W.A. to the Rainbow Sea Cadets will meet Friday afternoon at 2.30 at Prince Rupert House.

Anti-Nazi Solidarity of France Proving Effective

The existence of hundreds of thousands of little "free" French newspapers in France, the fact that in 1941 not a single tank built in France reached Germany, and numerous other things testifying to the anti-Nazi solidarity of France, were cited by Miss Gladys Arnold, well-known Canadian press columnist and Free French representative in Canada, in the course of an address Tuesday evening. She spoke to a gathering at the Central Junior High School, sponsored by L'Alliance France Libre.

"In every small town four or five Free French units are working separately, secretly, the existence of each unknown to the other. It is only we in London who know about the strength of their resistance to the Nazis," said Miss Arnold. "You cannot imagine how much a people can slow down work if they work unwillingly and do not want to co-operate," she added when commenting on the success of sabotage in hindering occupied France's enforced production for the hated invader.

GEN. DE GAULLE

The story of the Free French movement was symbolized in General de Gaulle, of whom she gave some personal impressions drawn from three interviews with the famous general. His calm and poised confidence, his faith, his humility, his enthusiasm, his ability as organizer and commanding officer of the Free French movement outside France had imparted strength and inspired loyalty. Support of the Free French movement had made of every escaped French soldier a crusader in a cause which had long since roused the sympathy of the British, beginning with the great and enthusiastic demonstration at a big public meeting held in Queen's Hall just after the capitulation of France. General de Gaulle's humility was shown on that occasion when, in the midst of deafening applause intended partly to induce him to go forward and speak, he had withdrawn and gone about more practical business in the modest belief that the audience was applauding not him but France.

"France, though militarily defeated for the time being, because she was not prepared to meet the completely-mechanized German army, is nevertheless not defeated, General de Gaulle had maintained.

IS NONPOLITICAL

The Free French movement was a military rather than a political movement, and was constantly gaining numbers. Today it had 200,000 men, 2,000 airmen, 5,000 sailors. The Free French colonies represented 10,000,000 people. Every man who escaped from France represented hundreds of others who were just as eager to join the cause of Free France.

In this connection Miss Arnold mentioned the work of General Clee, famous authority on tropical diseases, who, operating a clinic in Central Africa, has been doing magnificent work in helping escaped French prisoners to regain their health and get back to fight again for the liberation of France.

Free France in each country outside Nazi domination had its Free French delegation looking after the interests of France. In the United States are three such delegations, at Ottawa one for Canada, and many others elsewhere. The Free French information service has the manifold task of informing all French people, whether in or out of France, of the efforts being made to continue the battle of France. Also it had undertaken the keeping of records of French casualties while in the service of Free France, and the broadcasting to France of whatever information could be provided to help to keep up the morale of the people.

Major Cuthbert Holmes acted as chairman of the meeting, and Mr. W. R. Watson, lecturer, author and traveler, moved the thanks of the audience to the speaker.

Tops Roll of Honor For Collection Of Salvage

OTTAWA—Mrs. Dolly Dever of Vidette, B.C., today took top place in the honor roll of Canada's salvage collectors. On Munitions Minister Howe's desk is a letter from Mrs. Dever reporting that in the isolated little centre of Vidette she has conducted a successful salvage campaign. She rode 44 miles on horseback to mail the letter.

Mrs. Dever, whose only son is in the Royal Canadian Air Force, has gathered 46 pounds of aluminum, 1,500 pounds of rubber and more than three tons of scrap iron and steel.

"Please advise me what to do with this as I have so hard to gather it together," she wrote to Mr. Howe. "I am offering this as a free donation to the government. This road is a dangerous haul."

Mrs. Dever said switchbacks on the road were highly treacherous for those not familiar with the route and she doubted whether trucks from larger centres would venture on them. It would require two trips with a 2½-ton truck to move the material.

Salvage officials, describing Mrs. Dever's effort as "the finest example of a person working under difficulties yet reported," are giving the matter immediate attention.

Mrs. Kathleen Greene has promised to put on her "one-woman act" this week for the patients in the military hospital at Mount Tolmie. On Sunday evening she gave a comedy turn at the K. of C. Hut for the entertainment of the forces. Several organizations have taken advantage of her offer to put on a show for their benefit in the near future, among them the Animal Welfare Society and various Red Cross units.

Esquimalt Women's Institute will hold a silver tea and sale of work, Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. in St. Paul's Parish Hall. Usual attractions, afternoon tea, plain sewing, home cooking and bingo. Cards will be played in the evening at 8.15. Proceeds will be in aid of Esquimalt Ambulance Fund.

Weddings

DANDRIDGE—DAVIES

At Belmont United Church Saturday evening Mona Pearl, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dandridge, 3819 Quadra Street, was married to Wilfred H. Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Davies, 1712 Denman Street. Rev. H. W. Kerley officiated, and Miss Joyce Dandridge, sister of the bride, sang "Because" as the register was being signed.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of old rose silk crepe, with a small hat of beige straw trimmed with tulle and roses, and her bouquet was of pink carnations and snapdragons. She was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Walter Brett of Regina, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor in a beige crepe dress, Berton sailor hat trimmed with brown, and Miss Joyce Dandridge was bridesmaid, in a frock of turquoise blue crepe with small white straw hat, both carrying bouquets of snapdragons and carnations. Mr. Frank Grimshaw was best man.

At the reception in the church hall, the young couple stood beneath an arch of roses. The bride's table was centred with the wedding cake and arranged with red roses. Mrs. Dandridge welcomed the guests in a grey silk dress with small pink hat, assisted by Mrs. Davies in a cinnamon dress with matching beige trimmed hat. Both wore pink sweet peas and roses. Mrs. J. Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson, all of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Vickers, Duncan, and Mrs. J. Whitaker, Mill Bay, and the bridegroom's niece, Joy Brett of Regina, were among the out-of-town guests. The bride's bouquet was sent to the grave of her grandmother, Mrs. J. Willan, who died recently in Vancouver.

After a honeymoon on Vancouver Island, for which the bride donned a Scotch wool tweed coat over her wedding outfit, the young couple will live in Victoria.

RUDD—GRIFFIN

Baskets of delphinium and other flowers, with lighted tapers in cathedral standards decorated the First United Church for the marriage Tuesday evening of Doris Mae, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Griffin, 3120 Davin Street, and Mr. Frederick Millar Rudd, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Rudd, Burnside Road. Rev. Hugh A. McLeod performed the ceremony. Mr. George Peaker was at the organ, and Mrs. A. Coles sang "Because" as the register was being signed.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white net over taffeta, with bolero, her veil of net falling from a headdress of calla lilies and orange blossom to form a train. She carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds and carnations. Four attendants followed the bride. Her sister, Miss Gwen Griffin, was maid of honor in a long frock of pale pink sheer with gold-trimmed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 46th annual convention of the Baptist Churches of British Columbia at its closing session here passed a resolution asking that the federal and provincial governments work out immediately a system of nationalizing the liquor business.

The resolution asks that the liquor traffic be taken "completely out of the hands of provincial governments and private enterprise, with a view to making this business subservient to the interests of public welfare, rather than the end of public revenue—or private profit." Another resolution passed at the convention approves of the humane treatment of enemy aliens and criticizes any attempt to "profit by their embarrassment or make their condition more an-

That rubber stamp means we can say Canada's cotton textile industry is 11 times ahead of its war production records of 1914-18.

The industry is delivering about 215,000,000 yards a year of aircraft fabric, ammunition pouches, anti-gas cloth, camouflage netting, gun covers, parachute webbing, powder bags, uniform cloth, web equipment and other essential materials.

Dominion Textile is proud to have a part in this. We also wish to report that our plant employees are earning 28% more per hour than in 1939, and we pay 5.4 times more in taxes than the total paid in dividends to our several thousand shareholders.

'The Mortal Storm' Coming to York

"I like to portray the kind of a chap in whom I personally believe. The kind of a guy who knows what he wants and moves heaven and earth to get it. Who isn't afraid of obstacles and is never so sure of himself that his job appears to be a cinch."

And that, in a nutshell, is why

James Stewart feels that Martin Bratner, the character he portrays in "The Mortal Storm" at the York Theatre tomorrow, is one of his favorite screen characters.

"The Mortal Storm" brings together once again the trio of "The Shop Around the Corner," namely Margaret Sullivan, Stewart and Frank Morgan. The one addition to the cast of stars is Robert Young.

Novel dancing and ample music provide contrast for the comedy of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in their latest picture, "Rio Rita," for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and now being shown at the Capitol Theatre.

Eros Volusia, creator of native Brazilian dances, introduces her artistry to the screen for the first time, with lavish tropical background scenes for spectacular effect.

Twelve dancers appear with her in one number which required two weeks for rehearsal. The dances which Volusia offers are all recognized in the history of her native country.

As a child in exotic Bahia, she first learned the pulsing rhythms which are said to have originated in the Congo. She is most famous

"The Fleet's In" is the new Paramount comedy with music today at the Atlas Theatre.

The chief roles are taken by Dorothy Lamour and Eddie Bracken.

The roster of featured entertainers includes Betty Hutton, Betty Jane Rhodes, Jimmy Dorsey, Bob Eberley and Helen O'Connell, Cass Daley, Gil Lamb and Lorraine and Rogan, comedy dance team.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

More than 100 babies were used during this scene, which depicted an Easter walk parade, and the judging of a baby contest. Director Albert S. Rogell not only had to try and co-ordinate the activities of the babies, but he also had to contend with 100 fond mammas.

DOMINION THEATRE

The master of the "double take," Milton Berle, gets a chance to show his stuff in the 20th Century-Fox mystery-comedy, "Whispering Ghosts," currently delighting audiences at the Dominion Theatre.

Milton is playing his first starring role aided by Brenda Joyce, John Shelton, John Carradine and Willie Best. He confided to friends during shooting that, in his estimation, the "double take" is rapidly supplanting the "slow burn" made famous by Edgar Kennedy.

RIO THEATRE

When Barry Mackay's grandfather first leaned over his cradle, he exclaimed "A Boy! Of course, he'll join the navy!" Barry decided otherwise, for he never had a notion to sail the ocean. Rather, he preferred his father's profession, which was acting. Mackay is currently seen in Monogram's "Torpedo Raider" playing at the Rio Theatre, which closely parallels the Graf Spee disaster.

CADET THEATRE

Sonja Henie and John Payne have the top roles in the new 20th Century-Fox hit, "Sun Valley Serenade," which is now at the Cadet Theatre.

With a featured cast headed by Glenn Miller and his orchestra, the nation's number one band, the film also includes Milton Berle, Lynn Bari, Joan Davis, and the Nicholas Brothers.

Opens Here July 4

As producer-director of "Celebrity Parade," the triple-bill formula which will be the ideal medium for the perfect expression of the histrionic talents of that all-star cast who will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday evening, July 4, Herbert Wilcox will be the target for considerable plaudits.

He could at present be producing a motion picture, but he is currently devoting all his energies and talents exclusively to the raising of money for the Air Marshal Bishop Fund for the Air Cadet League of Canada, and he is giving his services gratis. Because of his wide connections in the realm of stage and screen, he has been able to commandeer an outstanding cast of name-players, each chosen for his or her particular abilities. In this way, Mr. Wilcox cannot be accused of mis-casting, for he has had the pick

Such a production as this could never tour Canada in the ordinary course of events, but it has been made possible by the generosity of the artists in donating their services to this series of Air Cadet League benefit performances; the waiving of royalty rights on the part of the authors, Noel Coward and Monckton Hoffs; the splendid gesture of Famous Players

OXYDOL

If you don't agree, simply return the package, with name and address to Oxydol, Montreal, and twice the purchase price will be refunded.

Declare war on washday wear and tear. Get your whitest wash ever with the rich, safe washing action of OXYDOL

Each washday, in millions of homes, a truly modern soap—New OXYDOL—is helping women to make clothes last longer in wartime.

Avoid Risk Of Harsh Bleaching
Every ounce of today's Oxydol is richer, more efficient in washing power. By its safe washing action alone... Oxydol brings clothes white without bleaching. And we mean the whitest wash any soap can give! Except for stains, of course, and unusual pieces... your clothes come radiantly white... and you avoid the risk of using harsh bleaches!

Eliminate Harmful Rubbing
Hard rubbing... the cause of so much wear and tear... is OUT! New Oxydol's livelier "Hustle-Bubble" suds soak the dirt loose in the washer. A quick rub here and there—where necessary—is all. But NOT the hard rubbing that wears clothes threadbare before their time!

And yet, for all its "wartime" efficiency... New Oxydol is even milder now on hands... safe for washable colours... safe for washable rayons!

Use this modern soap. Save your clothes in wartime by doing them the easier, safer OXYDOL way!

Calls for Action On Slot Machines

Repeal of the city by-law permitting operations of slot machines, not declared illegal under the Criminal Code, is sought in a motion filed by Alderman B. J. Gadsden for the next City Council meeting.

The alderman indicated he would seek an investigation of reports the machines here paid out money and would investigate those in veterans and other clubs to which members and the general public were admitted.

His action motion follows:

"That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare for submission to the City Council a by-law providing for the repealing of Section 8 of Schedule 'C' of the 'Trades License By-Law, 1939,' requiring the payment to the city by 'any persons who keeps, operates, or maintains, or permits to be kept, operated, or maintained on any premises under his control, for use by the public, any automatic amusement machines, mechanical or otherwise, which are not prohibited or made illegal by the Criminal Code of Canada, of a trade license fee of $30 for each machine for every six months; and containing a provision similar to that in force in the city of Vancouver under which any person who keeps, operates, or maintains, or permits to be kept, operated or maintained on any premises under his control, for use by the public, of any machine of the type mentioned, is disqualified from receiving or holding a municipal trade license to engage in any kind of business in the municipality."

Oak Bay A.R.P. In Test Tonight

An A.R.P. test, which officials said would be one of the most realistic workouts attempted by any A.R.P. unit of Greater Victoria, will take place between 8 and 10 tonight in No. 4 patrol area of Sector 1B. This area is bounded by Bowker Avenue to the Up-lands and from Beach Drive to Cadboro Bay Road.

Citizens should not be alarmed if they hear explosions in the area, as this will be part of the exercise, officials said. Some members of patrol areas No. 2 and 3 will assist in the test.

NEW RESTRICTIONS ON ELECTRIC SERVICE

Drastic new restrictions in the use of copper and other nonferrous metals for electrical service connections have just been received from the metals controller.

"The nonferrous metal situation has become so critical that further drastic reductions in consumption must be effected," says G. C. Bateman, Metals Controller, in a bulletin dated June 17.

His order is as follows:

"Under No Circumstances Shall Non-ferrous Metals Be Used in Public Utility and Electrical Service Projects Which Do Not Relate to Military Needs, War Production, Public Health or Safety."

Even in the case of the above-mentioned essential uses, special permission must be obtained from the metals controller before additional service can be given or new connections made, depending upon the amount of nonferrous metal involved.

Anyone expecting to require any type of electrical service should check with us as soon as possible in order to avoid disappointment and reduce delays to a minimum.

B.C. ELECTRIC

Studies City A.R.P.

G. Cocks of Saskatoon, in Victoria on a holiday, Tuesday visited the city A.R.P. office to get a few pointers on A.R.P. organization and activity.

Mr. Cocks said the coast had led Canada in A.R.P. work. In Saskatoon, he said, A.R.P. was just past the organization stage.

Although the provincial government had delegated authority to Saskatchewan cities to organize A.R.P. on a voluntary basis, being outside the danger zone, Saskatchewan A.R.P. organizations get no assistance from the Dominion government and priority to get A.R.P. equipment comes after B.C.'s.

While he was eager to put Saskatoon's A.R.P. on its feet, Mr. Cocks thought the priority was as it should be.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Life-saving Cloth Once $1 Per Inch

Glancing through a magazine recently, your Johns-Manville Reporter noticed an item that drives home what amazing strides industrial research and production methods have made. It was a story about an imported asbestos product of sixty years ago, containing these sentences: "Asbestos cloth was an article of great curiosity. It sold for a dollar a square inch." Well, thanks to research and mass production, asbestos products are now plentiful and low in cost.

For instance, workers in the Johns-Manville factory at Asbestos, Que., are today making asbestos cloth into fireproof "flame suits" for the fighting forces—turning out asbestos shingles which beautify the Canadian home and protect it against fire, weather and wear—manufacturing asbestos-brake linings for tanks and trucks—and producing a long list of other asbestos products vital to Canadian war industries.

Don't be the missing man.

Post-war World Outlined by Major Simon

DUNCAN—A post-war world policed by Great Britain alone, or even by the United States and Great Britain, is an impossibility, said Major John P. Simon, Victoria, presenting "A Study of the Atlantic Charter" to Cowichan Women's Canadian Club.

Outlining the significance of the Atlantic Charter of August 12, 1941, and events leading to it, he said that some form of international control would be necessary.

Since the signing of the charter, he said, there had been certain changes in the world situation. The United States was fully in the war. Russia had held out, whereas then her fall had been expected. Both Russia and the United States, he stated, would have greater post-war influence than had been thought then. Another change had been the loss of Britain's East Asia colonies.

The signing of the charter, the speaker declared, was not propaganda as some had thought, but had arisen from the demand of the people of the allied countries for a statement of war aims. When he had been in England shortly before the outbreak of war, the feeling of the people had been: "The government has brought us to war. We must see afterwards that they cannot do it again."

Chamberlain, when Prime Minister in November, 1939, had given "vague aims" concerning the need of disarmament, free trade, restoration of conquered peoples, and freedom. That Christmas, Roosevelt had sent a message to the Pope saying that the common people of the world were already forming the new order.

ECONOMIC AIMS

The Pope's Christmas message to his cardinals had mentioned the rights of nations and individuals, and had suggested an international organization to control the world's "danger points." A year later, writing in The London Times, Anglican archbishops had added economic aims, Major Simon said. Inequality of opportunity, they had said, should be abolished. Children should have equal educational opportunities, and the family should be guarded.

In January, 1941, Roosevelt, speaking to Congress, had named the "four freedoms," the speaker went on: freedom of speech and expression, freedom of worship, freedom from want, freedom from fear. Men everywhere in the world, he had said, desired equality of opportunity, security and the abolition of privilege. Attainment of those aims, the President had said, meant a worldwide reduction in armaments after the war, so that no nation could be strong enough to attack an international force.

Chamberlain, Major Simon stated, had said his vague aims were Utopian, but the President said his were not vision but were "attainable in our time and generation." These declarations, by leaders, the speaker stated, were the prelude to the charter.

Article I of the charter, which was now signed by 26 nations, including Russia, he said, stated that the signatories desired no aggrandizement. The 26 nations were pledged not to enlarge their empires. This pledge made necessary some form of international colonial control, with far wider powers than the mandatory system set up by the League of Nations.

SUGGESTS COMMISSION

The old mandate commission, the speaker said, was advisory, not administrative. Countries given control of former German colonies considered that they owned them. He suggested a commission with power to appoint administrators, varying in nationality from time to time, and with control of public works, taxation and education.

The joint Anglo-American Caribbean Commission, controlling territories of each country in that area, showed the trend, he said, to international control. Britain's agreement with Ethiopia, giving that country independence, had been criticized only for not going far enough.

Articles II and III, concerning the sovereign rights of nations, "contain the seeds of war," the speaker declared. "National sovereignty. In recent years has become a fetish and was the immediate cause of this war."

Before the war, he continued, there had been 30,000,000 persons living as minorities in Europe. He suggested an international committee to consider minority questions "on their merits, and not politically."

English-speaking people, he said, were looking for a post-war world based on Anglo-Saxon democracy, but this was not possible.

"Poland before the war had anti-Jew laws second only to Germany's. Our type of democracy could not function in China. Russia had done many things wonderfully, before and during the war, that I think she could not have done if she had been a true democracy. She had done better than other countries with minorities, which form 50 per cent of her people."

"Italy might have a democracy of our type, but Germany, I think, could not. England took 500 years to reach her present place from feudalism, so how can we expect Japan, after having that system for 2,600 years, to become a democracy now?"

Economic clauses in the charter included, he said, a statement that all nations should have equal access to raw materials, "in accordance with existing agreements." This reservation, it had been pointed out, tended to spoil the intent of the charter. Major Simon suggested an international body controlling raw materials.

"If we do not have international economic control after the war, we will only go back again to bilateral and multilateral treaties." Such treaties, he pointed out, had helped some countries but could not solve world problems.

Provisions of the Lend-Lease agreement concerning benefits in return for goods received stated, he said, that settlements should be designed not to burden commerce but to promote expansion in production and reduce tariffs.

WORLD POLICE FORCE

The Atlantic Charter and other international agreements made during the war, he summed up, had "tremendous bearing on Canada's economy. The war has already destroyed Canada's former economic system, and these agreements will help build a new one."

"Security, peace, freedom from want and fear, freedom of travel," he declared, "all depend on the cessation of the use of force." He spoke of the need for a world police force powerful enough to control any combination of nations. If Britain and the United States attempted to do this they would soon be in a deplorable condition, he asserted; they could not afford it.

The "wiping out" of all Germans, advocated by some, was impossible, he said, besides being against all ethical considerations. For one thing, German heavy industry would have to supply all Europe after the war. Stalin had declared that he intended to destroy, not the German people, but their government. Russians, he stated, respected other nationalities, but the Germans had been taught to hate all except the "master race." Canada, since becoming a nation, had secured national privileges without thinking of her responsibilities. She had taken a negative attitude. Major Simon appealed to his audience to realize the need for a positive attitude.

The speaker, who spent 32 years in the Canadian army, since retiring has made international affairs his hobby. He has traveled widely and is a member of the Canadian and English Institutes of International Affairs.

Canadians Asked to Save, Not Spend

Hard Work, Plain Living, Less Purchasing, Asks Ilsley

By FRANK FLAHERTY
OTTAWA (CP)—Hard work, plain living, saving and tax paying constitute the lot of Canadians for duration of a war which is far from its end, under Finance Minister Ilsley's 1942 budget.

Canadians today find themselves saddled with a tax structure which far exceeds in weight the unprecedented levies imposed in earlier war budgets. It hits incomes in increasing degree. It hits scores of less essential commodities with the alternative objectives of discouraging purchases, and so making saving possible or bringing revenue to the treasury.

Combined with the extraordinary tax structure is a new plan of compulsory saving and new incentives to savings, collection of income taxes at the source and monthly payments.

The new taxes and tax increases are of two kinds—those which all must pay and those which one can avoid paying by doing without something and so having more money to lend to the government.

2 Per Cent Interest On Compulsory Savings

The national defence tax and the personal income tax are combined to make a higher impost with part of the total repayable after the war with interest at 2 per cent per annum. All must pay those, except persons with less than the minimum taxable income.

The maximum excess profits tax is increased 75 to 100 per cent with certain changes and adjustments and provision for post-war repayment of 20 per cent of the tax paid, in the 100 per cent category.

Users of liquor, wines, beer, cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, soft drinks, playing cards; persons who travel, make long distance telephone calls, send telegrams or cables, buy furs, chew gum, eat candy, take pictures; people who buy jewelry, glassware, ornamental china, ash trays, luggage, watches or clocks; or who frequent dance halls, night clubs or cabarets have a choice of paying more taxes or cutting out these luxuries and amusements.

The new income tax rates are applicable on 1942 income. The increase in the excess profits tax goes into effect on July 1.

Most of the special war revenue and excise tax changes and new taxes came into effect at midnight Tuesday. Also effective at midnight were the new tariff changes in the budget.

The new night club entertainment tax of 20 per cent on patrons' bills is effective July 1 next.

A new tax of 2 per cent on insurance premiums, payable by the insurance companies, is made effective on 1941 premium payments.

Mr. Ilsley said the total expenditures of the federal government in 1942-43 on all counts—nonwar, direct war and financial aid to United Kingdom—would be $3,900,000,000. He estimated total revenues on the basis of the new tax rates at $2,050,000,000, with another $95,000,000 in refundable taxes under the new plan, leaving a net deficit of $1,755,000,000 to be met by borrowing or out of cash assets.

That means, he said, that on top of paying their taxes Canadians must save and lend to their government. It means less spending, he warned, and there will be fewer things on which to spend since less goods will be available for civilian consumption.

"Every dollar we spend means that someone else is working for us," he said. "Let us not spend it if that someone might instead be working for victory."

"I am not asking that anyone's standard of living should be reduced below the level of personal efficiency and decency. But I am asking that it should be no higher than that level."

Neighbors Compete In Saving, Not Spending

"Let us compete with our neighbors in saving, not spending; in making shift with what clothing and house furnishings we have, not in buying more; in hard work and plain and thrifty living."

Mr. Ilsley said the light-hearted optimism evident a few weeks ago had been shattered by events of the last few days in Libya, the Crimea and China.

"Do not these convince us that the war may not be won this year, may not be won for many years?" he asked.

Germany and Japan had not recklessly brought the United States into the war, he said.

There was nothing intentionally suicidal about their plans. They were convinced they could win in 1942. Mr. Ilsley said he believed Canadians now realize how critical the situation is in the Middle East, in China and in Russia and how critical it may be "elsewhere before long."

For the first time in the history of Canadian income tax laws provision was made to enable persons to meet unusual medical expenses and contractual savings payments and treat them as deductions for tax purposes.

Medical expenses exceeding five per cent of a taxpayer's total income are deductible from his taxable income. If a taxpayer is paying fixed amounts of life insurance, annuities, or mortgages on his home they can be treated as savings and count to reduce the amount of tax he will pay in that part of the income tax which is refundable after the war.

The principle of making part of the tax repayable after the war is applied to the new 100 per cent excess profits tax as well as to the personal income tax.

Keep Costs Down Business Men Warned

In connection with this tax the minister made an appeal to businessmen to keep their costs under control and not become careless because all of their excess profits go to the government. By keeping their costs down they would build up a fund for postwar adjustment with the repayable portion of their taxes and be in a better position to come through a future, critical period.

No significant changes were made in the Succession Duty Act passed last year. The rates remain unchanged but charitable gifts up to one-half of an estate are made tax-free where they formerly paid half the regular tax rate.

Mr. Ilsley said taxes on alcoholic drinks had been increased sharply at the start of the war but sales indicated they could bear further increases. So he raised the duty on spirits $2 a gallon and duties on other drinks accordingly.

Despite an earlier increase in taxes on tobacco products, sales had increased and the new budget upped the rate on cigarettes by 1 cent for every five with corresponding hoists on tobacco, cigars, cigarette papers and tubes. The tax of one cent a bottle on soft drinks, applied last year, was raised to two cents.

Such hitherto-untaxed luxuries as candy and chewing gum were taxed, both at 30 per cent on the manufacturer's price.

Altogether, the minister estimated the new taxes, effective for the balance of the fiscal year will increase revenues for the fiscal year by $377,850,000 over the estimated yield from present taxes of $1,671,600,000.

It will be noted that on the amount of any income in excess of $100,000, the rate of graduated tax is 85 per cent, to which, of course, must be added the flat rate tax of 7 per cent for married persons and 9 per cent for single persons. In addition to this we must add the 4 per cent surtax on investment income, since any income in excess of $100,000 is almost certain to be investment income in this country.

Therefore there is an effective top rate of tax of 96 per cent for married persons and 98 per cent for single persons. This leaves what for such persons will amount to only a token residual of 2 per cent or 4 per cent. The effect of these rates will be that while a married person with a $100,000 income, of which $30,000 is earned income, will be left with about $21,000, another having a total income of $500,000 will be left with about $37,000.

The new graduated rates are substantially higher than present rates. The first $1,000 of net taxable income (after deductions for exemptions) now is taxable at 15 per cent. Under the increase the first $500 is taxable at the rate of 30 per cent; the next $500 at 33 per cent; and the following $1,000 at 37 per cent—compared with 20 per cent on the second $1,000 under the old schedule.

Where deductions at source are not possible, taxpayers will be required to pay in quarterly installments.

Children Dependent Only to 18 Now

Exemptions for children will be allowed only to the age of 18 instead of 21 as at present, except where the child is attending day school or college, or is incapacitated.

While the excess profits tax is increased from 75 per cent to 100 per cent, the flat rate of corporation tax on all profits is not increased because, the minister said, he did not wish to remove entirely the incentive to conduct business in an economical manner.

Under the new budget a business will pay a flat rate of 12 per cent on total profits, plus the 18 per cent corporation income tax, and pay as well either 10 per cent of its total profits or 100 per cent of its excess profits after deducting the corporation income tax and the 12 per cent rate thereon, whichever is the greater.

Under existing schedules a business pays the 18 per cent corporation income tax on all profits, and under the Excess Profits Tax Act pays either 75 per cent of excess profits over standard profits after deducting the corporation tax paid on this excess, or pays 22 per cent of its total profits, whichever is the greater.

"The effect of this change, which may seem inconsequential at first sight, is to increase substantially the tax liability of all those whose profits have increased by more than one-sixth of their standard profits," Mr. Ilsley said.

Those whose profits are subject to the 100-per-cent rate on excess profits will have refunded, without interest, 20 per cent of the amount of profits in excess of the amount at which the 100 per cent on the excess, after deduction of corporation income tax and the 12 per cent flat rate, equals the 10-per-cent tax on the total profit.

National Defence tax already deducted from 1942 incomes will be credited toward the total payable under the new tax; this will afford considerable alleviation of the immediate burden for those in the lower brackets.

Dealing with tax changes, Mr. Ilsley said:

From what has been said it is evident that fiscal necessity forces us to look again to the income tax on individuals, or some similar device, for a large amount of additional funds. In devising measures to meet this need I have had to keep in mind three other important considerations—the need for equity, for incentive and for savings.

In devising measures to meet this need I have had to keep in mind three other important considerations—the need for equity, for incentive and for savings.

Individuals Tax Fairest Method

As regards equity, I am sure we all agree that the income tax on individuals is the fairest method of taxation. By and large, a person's income is the best single measure of his taxable capacity, particularly when we take into account the number of persons dependent on him. It is by no means a perfect measure, however, and as we increase the rates to higher levels we must attempt to take into account other factors affecting ability to pay.

DOMINO MANAGER Dave Nicol still chuckles a canny Caledonian chuckle whenever he thinks of the conversation between Jack Mottishaw and a farmer at a small northern Ontario station. It was when the dominoes were returning home after winning the Dominion basketball championship at Montreal.

At one of these two-minute "stretch-a-leg" stops Mottishaw swung down onto the platform and stood by a small clump of saplings. He saw a tiller of the soil, back arched, laboriously pushing a lawn mower toward him.

"Goin' logging, chum?" asked Mottishaw. The man looked up, startled and puzzled, whereupon the domino player pointed to the clump of trees behind him.

Although each tree was only the circumference of a man's thumb, the agrarian didn't catch on.

"Why," explained Jack, "out in the country where we come from the loggers cut down trees like that with Gillette razor blades and use them for tooth-picks."

Thoughts as they come . . . Sid Watson of the Dominions and Oakland's lacrosse team, is leaving for Vancouver in a few days to enter the government technical school prior to joining the R.C.A.F. . . . George "Porky" Andrews left the city a week ago for Vancouver where he enlisted in the air force and was sent east to train for air crew. "Porky" was back in the city for only two weeks after having the most successful basketball season of his career with the University of Oregon . . . Buddy Lott, scrum half on Victoria's McKeechie Cup rugby team last season and a member of Bob McInnes' Oakland lacrosse squad, will be out of the city for three or four months with a survey party.

The Gryo Club has asked this column to sound a clarion call for golf balls for their Hole-in-One contest, the first four days in July, in aid of the Solarium. The rubber shortage and priorities have made these golfers' bantanas about as scarce as their third or fourth cousins' auto tires.

The club just wants your old crocks, the kind that have, over a period of months, taken quite a murdering or have a case of masle mumps. A record will be kept of individual donations and at the end of the show crocks will be returned on a proportionate basis to donors.

Don't forget—it's all for the Solarium.

These are last minute thoughts. . . . Harry Harding, son of Fred Harding, penalty timekeeper at the local lacrosse battles and old-time lacrosse player himself, is in Calgary now with the Canadian Army Provost Corps. Harry pitched quit a bit of baseball in the city and played lacrosse for the Jokers and Alerts . . . Joe Addison, overseas with the Canadian Forestry Corps, got a transfer to the air force where he is now in training as an air gunner.

Bruce Humber, another Victoria sprinter who made the last Olympic Games, is in the east, a pilot with the R.C.A.F. . . . Art McKim, ex-Bay goalie and in the air force, scored a shut-out playing goal for his air force lacrosse team in St. Thomas a few weeks ago. Shutouts are few and far between in the boxed game and Art may have made history for himself . . . Norm Trasolini, crown prince of baseball comedy, will play in Victoria with Coley Hall's St. Regis Hotel nine, July 1, in the annual Victoria-Vancouver series for the Dominion Day Challenge Trophy. The trophy is at present held by Victoria. There will be two games, one at 2.30 and the twilight wind-up at 6.30.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have erased virtually all question of their retaining the National League pennant, but they are giving their fans something to ponder in the way of batting and most valuable player honors.

Pete Reiser and Joe Medwick are away out in front of everyone else in the league in batting and it is generally conceded that they are the two foremost candidates for recognition this year as the most valuable player in the league.

But the records would seem to show that laughing Larry French is just about as valuable as any other man on the Dodgers. He stepped into the breach again Tuesday night in a relief role to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 2 for his sixth triumph without a defeat this year.

French always has been around when needed and last night when Whitlow Wyatt couldn't get his throwing arm loosened up, Larry was flagged in from the bullpen at the start of the third inning. The score was 2 to 2 at the time and French pitched shutout ball for the rest of the way and also set off the winning rally.

With two out in the fifth inning the pitcher singled. Two more hits loaded the bases and then Reiser singled two runs home and Medwick knocked another pair across with a double—extending his batting streak to 26 games.

YANKS OUT OF SLUMP The New York Yankees came out of their slump by nosing out the St. Louis Browns 6 to 5 with a 14-hit barrage, including three safeties by Joe DiMaggio. The Browns succeeded in belting Atley Donald off the mound with a three-run uprising in the eighth, but it was insufficient.

The Boston Red Sox smashed the Detroit Tigers into submission 6 to 2 with Oscar Judd scattering eight hits and himself getting one of Boston's three home runs. Ted Williams hit one, his 16th of the season, and Jim Tabor the other.

The Cleveland Indians also collected three homers in overpowering the Philadelphia Athletics 7 to 5. The tribe's round-trippers were by Oris Hockett, Les Fleming and Ken Keltner.

The Cincinnati Reds, who had won 13 of their last 17 games and were hopeful of getting within sight of the Dodgers during their eastern invasion, were rudely shut out by the New York Giants 7 to 0 as Bill Lohrman pitched a four-hitter.

Chicago Cubs captured a free-hitting affair from Philadelphia Phils 8 to 4 although outlit 13 to 12. The big blow in the Bruins assault was a three-run homer by Lou Novikoff.

COAST LEAGUE A fumbled grounder set the stage for a final effort by San Diego to win Tuesday night's Coast League ball game with Portland and the Padres cashed in for a 6 to 5 victory.

Sam Gibson displayed his crafty wares as he worked over Oakland batters for a five-hitter that gave the San Francisco Seals a 4 to 2 win and halted a four-game losing streak.

At Los Angeles, the Angels showed off their league-leading batting pace by cracking out three home runs to defeat Hollywood, 8 to 6.

A postponement kept the league-leading Sacramento Solons idle at Seattle, but a double-header is set for tonight to make up for the unplayed game.

Everything Happens in Brooklyn

Here's a diamond brawl, replete with spectators and peacemakers, that spiced the recent St. Louis Cardinals-Brooklyn Dodgers series in Brooklyn. In the middle of the melee are Ducky Medwick, centre, mixing it with Cards' Frank Crespi. It started when Medwick slid, spikes high, into second and was tagged out by Martin Marion. When the two started fighting Crespi moved in and knocked Medwick sprawling. Medwick and Crespi were ejected from the game.

players and the grapevine has it they are quite confident of beating the sailors.

The Navy band will be in attendance and will supply music from 6.15 until game time.

Don't be the missing man.

After being capsize by the Dufferin and Haldimand Regiment softballers, Sunday, the R.C.N. swung back to an even keel with a 12 to 8 victory over Douglas Tire at Athletic Park, Tuesday evening.

Four home runs by the sailors and substantial aid by Douglas Tire in the way of errors, helped the Navy to victory. Rogers got two of the circuit blows while Richardson and Baker toured the bases once.

Navy ran into trouble in the fifth inning when the tiremen drove home three runs and sent pitcher Flywarch to the showers. Their ace chucker, Stebbings, filled the breach and allowed only three more runs, all in the ninth inning.

"Rosy" McLellan, Victoria's ace softball pitcher of three or four years ago, knocked out two homers for the losers as well as doing a nice job of relief pitching. Douglas Tire started off with Minnis in the box, tried Bacon for a while and ended with McLellan in the last three innings.

In B division games Coach and Horsesh beat Barons 5 to 1, while V.M.D. pounded Hudson's Bay, 19 to 5.

LACROSSE WORKOUT The James Bay Juvenile A lacrosse team will practice at the Beacon Hill Park box tonight, team manager Arnold Ferguson announced today.

PRINCE OF COMEDY TO PLAY BALL HERE The Victoria and District Baseball League announced today that Coley Hall's St. Regis Hotel nine from Vancouver would be Victoria's opponents this year in the annual July 1 baseball double-header for the Dominion Day Challenge Trophy.

Victoria at present holds the cup, beating Vancouver Diethers last year to win it.

Feature of this year's two-game series will be the appearance of Norm Trasolini, baseball's crown prince of comedy, with the St. Regis Hotel team. Trasolini acted up in a game at Nanaimo last Sunday, and was reported to have had the spectators laughing harder than they did at the last Abbott and Costello film to run in the city.

The first of the two Dominion Day games will be played at 2.30, the nightcap to follow at 6.30. Both will be at the Athletic Park.

TIREMEN CATCH UP In the second session Oaks stretched their lead to four goals after 10 minutes of play. Then they got two penalties in a row and Chief Gussie gave his team the sign to put on the heat, which they did. Barr scored two

In the third quarter Wally Williams became the hero for 15 minutes with his four goals which stretched the Oaks' lead to three markers.

Then came the fourth and Bobby Barr just lifted the lid off the whole show. He scored Doug, las Tire's first goal of the quarter, which Oaks' Marty Turnquist equalled. Gibb Stevens drew his team within two goals of a tie with his first score of the night.

Barr then dug in and went to town. He scored four straight in less than four minutes, saw Duff McGaghey get one back for Oaks, then notched another and finished the scoring after teammate Andy Ovcharick had tallied one. The whole time he took a terrific beating. Oaks let him have everything they could give, which was plenty.

Jim Perry followed Barr in the Douglas Tire scoring list with two goals. All others were singletons. For Oaks, Duff McGaghey followed Williams with two goals and five assists, while Marty Turnquist scored a couple. Teams and scores follow:

Douglas Tire—Bryant, Goode, Ovcharick 1, Stevens 1, Scott, Moffatt 1, Robbins, Perry 2, Barr 12, Winters 1, King, Donald, Holden.

Oaklands—Taylor, Turnquist 2, Rhodes 1, Michelin, Popham, Ranson, Lee, McGaghey 2, Williams 7, Prior, Bishop 1, Penketh, Watson.

JOKERS' PRACTICE The Jokers senior lacrosse team will practice at the Sports Centre tonight between 7 and 8. Manager Jimmy Smith has asked for a full turnout.

Aptitude testing, intended to insure that men will be employed in the capacity for which they are best equipped by natural ability, is being introduced into the military forces of Australia.

Gasmen Play V.M.D. Tonight

For the second time this season manager Bert Nex will send big Ritchie Nicol to the mound, this time to stop V.M.D., when the shipyard-workers and Pitzer and Nex tangle in tonight's senior baseball attraction at Athletic Park. The game will start at 6.30.

Nicol has pitched only one other game this season and won it despite walking 12 men. The gasmen are now in third place, one game ahead of R.C.A.F., and need a win to really dig into that spot. Tommy Musgrave, the ex-Capitano, will be around just in case V.M.D. batters should get to Nicol.

Cy Shillito, top man in V.M.D.'s pitching staff, has fully recovered from a sore flinging arm and will be out to throttle Pitzer and Nex. This will be Shillito's fourth start against the gasmen, and if he lives up to past performances, should be on the winning side. He has beaten them in all three performances.

CHIEF RATTLESNAKE DUE

Laurel Harney, field manager of V.M.D., announced Tuesday that Chief Jimmie Rattlesnake, a full-blooded Indian, would arrive in the city today to join the league-leaders' pitching staff. If he does arrive, he will be in uniform tonight. Laurel says he stands six feet two inches, is built in proportion and pitched good ball around Edmonton.

Prince of Comedy To Play Ball Here

The Victoria and District Baseball League announced today that Coley Hall's St. Regis Hotel nine from Vancouver would be Victoria's opponents this year in the annual July 1 baseball double-header for the Dominion Day Challenge Trophy.

Make Comeback To Win Boxla Game 18-14

Five feet tall and apparently a painless wonder, young Bobby Barr of the Douglas Tire lacrosse team left 400 spectators dizzy at the Sports Centre, Tuesday night, as he scored 12 goals, seven of them in the last quarter, to lead his team to an 18 to 14 comeback win over Oaklands and set up a new individual scoring record in Victoria box lacrosse.

The kid played the whole of the last quarter and almost single-handedly wiped out Oaklands' 12 to 9 three-quarter time lead in a hectic last session. His 12 goals exceeded by two the record of 10 posted by Wally Williams when he played for Alerts last season.

They used to call Bobby "that half-pint," but now refer to him as the boy with a heart bigger than his miniature frame. Time and again in that last quarter he took passes at the left boards, wheeled, back hunched, head between shoulders, and cut into goal as Oaklands players stood almost in a row ineffectually checking him as he drove to the crease line.

STEALS GLORY

In fact, had it not been for Bobby's seven last-quarter goals, Oaklands' Wally Williams would have stolen the night's glory. Wally, back to his flashy form of two years ago, butted into the McGaghey to Lea combination to send home seven markers and take second place scoring honors. He was in there scrapping the whole distance and the bigger they came the harder they fell. His four consecutive goals near the end of the third canto gave the Oaks a three-goal lead that set them up for a coast home in the last quarter, which didn't take place.

OAKS START STRONGLY

Oaks opened the game in their usual fast-passing style, but as play roughened up and penalties were lavishly distributed by referees Buzz Brown and Ed Brynjolfson, the boys took a survival of the fittest attitude.

It was open night for slashing and high checking and the players didn't pull their punches. Oaklands players tenanted the cooler for 23 minutes altogether, while Douglas Tire received a minute less in penalties.

At the end of the first quarter Bob McInnes' lads held a comfortable 5 to 2 lead and everyone from the Oaks water boy up to Manager McInnes, was happy. The team was playing good lacrosse.

TIREMEN CATCH UP In the second session Oaks stretched their lead to four goals after 10 minutes of play. Then they got two penalties in a row and Chief Gussie gave his team the sign to put on the heat, which they did. Barr scored two goals and Jim Perry followed up with a singleton that drew them to within one goal of Oakland at half-time.

Quits Golf for Duration

Bobby Jones Retires

Capt. Robert T. Jones Jr., famous grand slam gold winner of 1930, now worries about lacing the Axis instead of golf balls. Commissioned in the U.S. Army Air Corps he is shown cleaning up affairs in Atlanta.

By Associated Press

NEW YORK—When a fellow shoots close-to-par golf and still winds up 19 strokes back of top money it's time to admit the other guys may be getting "too hot" for him, but that's not the reason Bobby Jones is hanging up his clubs for the duration.

Bobby—it's Capt. Robert Tyre Jones now—was still slightly shell-shocked today as he recalled last week's Hale America Tournament at Chicago, during which Ben Hogan left him far back, although he was right up near regulation figures all the way.

But he pointed out emphatically that the big idea in trading in his sticks for a uniform was because he figured he could use his eyes for something more important than lining up putts.

So did the army. As a result, the round-faced man with the Peachtree Street accent started out today on an assignment that will make him the biggest pair of eyes among the 800,000 pairs that will be spotting enemy planes for the army's fighter aircraft along the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Key West.

Fresh from the Chicago shot-making, he was ordered to start a course here in the aircraft-waring service, which mans observation posts along the entire coast line.

"After completing his course," said Brig.-Gen. John K. Cannon, commanding general of the first fighter command, "Captain Jones will be assigned to organizing and instructing volunteers in this vital observation service."

"The service comprises more than 800,000 civilian volunteers. They have truly been described as the eyes of the First Fighter Command. They release for combat duty thousands of soldiers—as many as 30,000 or 40,000—who would otherwise have to man the observation posts."

Born in Regina 39 years ago, he has lived in Victoria for many years at 795 Newport Avenue. He joined the field artillery in 1931 and qualified for his captaincy in 1937. Other promotions affect Lt.-Col. K. W. Hicks, formerly of the 11th Anti-aircraft Battery, R.C.A. (C.A.), who is to command the 5th (B.C.) Coast Regiment, R.C.A. (C.A.), and Lt.-Col. R. A. Reckless Charges By Tanks Drive Wedge Into Reds

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP) — Reckless charges by hundreds of Nazi tanks followed by infantry have driven a wedge into the Red Army defences on the Kharkov front in the Ukraine and are bringing over-powering strength to bear against the far outnumbered defenders of besieged Sevastopol in the Crimea, the Russians conceded today.

At a single point on the Kharkov front, the Germans massed 200 tanks in an onslaught which began June 22, first anniversary of the German invasion, and has been ineffectual constantly in fury and force, said Russian dispatches from the battlefield.

At Sevastopol, the overwhelming force of the German offensive was indicated by a report that the Nazis sent two divisions of infantry (up to 30,000 men) and numerous tanks into the attack in a single narrow strip.

The infantry crept forward under camouflage and through ditches and shell craters behind the tanks, but the Sevastopol garrison managed to establish a flanking fire that checked the enemy. Then a counterattack forced the Germans to retreat, said the Russian account.

(This apparently was on a peninsula in the bay north of Sevastopol, where the German high command claimed Russian "remnants" were annihilated.) At another point north of Sevastopol the Russians mustered the strength to recapture a hilltop, but the Germans still poured more men and machines into the assault, now in its 20th day.

On the Kharkov front the story was similar.

The Germans apparently are oblivious to immense losses as they throw in ever greater numbers of tanks, planes and infantry, but they still have not managed to achieve any real success, declared Red Star, army paper.

AIRCRAFT IN SUPPORT

newspaper circulation managers in San Francisco. The three-day convention brought more than 200 paper circulation managers from U.S. and Canada to discuss problems facing their departments today.

The radio had abolished the publications of wartime extras, he said, with all big "breaks" being brought to the public several minutes after the news has occurred.

Remarkings on differences between Canadian and U.S. newspapers, he said those in the latter country print more news, with less detail, with Canadian publications "abiding by the English tradition of providing the reading public with much more details."

"The Canadian readers would like this American policy introduced to their papers, too," he added.

Mr. O'Rourke and his wife, a former reporter in Dayton, Ohio, will journey to Vancouver tonight, to continue their tour of the west.

To Observe Army Week Here With Parades and Concerts

Victoria will celebrate Army Week with the rest of Canada, beginning next Monday, it was decided at a meeting of army and public representatives this morning. Since Victoria is within an operational area, however, men of the active forces will not be available to participate in the celebrations.

Lt.-Col. H. E. Goodman, who represented M.D. No. 11 at the discussions, said the celebration was being put on across Canada to acquaint the public with the Canadian soldier and his work. He said it was not connected with any recruiting drive.

Army Week will be launched with a wave of publicity in newspapers, on the radio and in store windows.

Mayor Andrew McGavin will be asked to issue a proclamation urging citizens to decorate their houses and businesses with flags of the United Nations. Housewives will also be asked to serve army ration meals during the week.

ARMY MENUS

Tom Kelway of the board of directors of the Victoria Restaurant Keepers' Association, said restaurant managers were being asked to observe Army Week by putting army rations on their menus Monday. As for himself, he said, he was putting only army rations on the bill of fare with a small a la carte menu.

With all the Army Week publicity, he said, customers will be asking for army food.

The following is the army's menu for Monday:

Breakfast—One orange, rolled oats, fresh milk, scrambled eggs, toast with butter, apricot jam, and coffee or cocoa.

Dinner—Bean soup, roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, oven browned potatoes, diced carrots, brown gravy, bread and butter, oatmeal cookies, stewed rhubarb, tea or milk.

Supper—Bean soup, macaroni and cheese, crisp vegetable salad, cracked wheat muffins, chocolate bread pudding and tea or coffee.

ENTERTAIN SOLDIERS

The public will be asked to entertain members of the army units stationed in and near Victoria in their homes during Army Week.

Service clubs will also be asked to arrange programs in keeping with Army Week, and one club has already announced each clubman will have a soldier as his guest at the club luncheon.

Store managers who wish materials for decorating their windows in keeping with the celebrations should get in touch with Mai. Stan O'Neil, Empire 4103.

Tuesday festivities will include a mass parade of reserve auxiliary units. Probably four bands will be in the parade.

Following a reserve army parade Wednesday evening a concert will be presented for soldiers and their friends at the Bay Street Armories. The concert will start at 8.30 and any seats not taken by soldiers and their friends will be offered free to the public. A dance for the forces will follow the concert. The concert program has not been announced.

A.R.P. DEMONSTRATION

The city A.R.P. has charge of Thursday celebrations. Following a parade of about 2,000 A.R.P. personnel and equipment through downtown streets, said Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, a mass demonstration would be given at Macdonald Park. He said all units of the A.R.P. would take part in the demonstration.

All day Friday the following army camps will be open for inspection by the public: Gordon Head, Colwood, Work Point Camp (not barracks) and the Bay Street Armories.

Saturday will have no special festivities but the public will be asked to fly all the United Nations flags that are available.

Churches throughout Victoria will be asked to conduct services in keeping with Army Week on Sunday.

A band concert will be given in Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon, followed by a community concert in front of the Parliament Buildings Sunday evening.

One permit for a $2,000 four-room home at 535 Dalton St. was included in minor construction activity for which permits were issued by the city building inspector's office in the last two days. Other projects called for $500 alterations to an apartment at 1385 Manor Road, and a $400 double garage, at 717 Queens Ave.

Instructions to the agent caring for 336 and 340 Vancouver St., to have those premises improved brought a reply from R. H. Shanks of the B.C. Land and Investment Agency to the effect the owner, a London resident was ill and without money and the victim of Nazi bombing. The letter suggested consideration be shown him on those grounds.

Concert for A.R.P. Tomorrow Evening

A brilliant choral program has been chosen for the concert in aid of A.R.P. funds in Metropolitan United Church being given tomorrow evening jointly by the choir of the United Churches of Greater Victoria and the band of the Gordon Head O.T.C.

The chorus will consist of 175 voices and will be assisted by the Fairfield Church trio, Mrs. Arthur Dowell and Lieut. Dudley Wickett, R.C.N.V.R. A trumpet solo with band accompaniment will be offered by Bandsman Hastings.

An international aspect has been lent to this affair by the offer of Lauren B. Sykes A.A. G.O., of Portland, Ore., to appear in a group of three organ numbers. He is one of the leading recitalists on the Pacific coast.

The band will be under the direction of Bandmaster Delamont, and the chorus directed by Frank Tupman with Edward Parsons at the organ.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting the condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

India If Armed Could Hold Japs

Darshan Singh Sangha, Victoria East Indian, said Tuesday night if the people of India were armed, they would be able to protect India against the Japanese, thus releasing manpower and equipment of the United Nations for the opening of a second front in Europe.

He was one of four speakers at a public meeting sponsored by the British-Russian Alliance Committee and the Victoria Youth Victory Club. Bishop H. E. Sexton was in the chair.

The refusal of Great Britain to arm India was the main stumbling block of the Sir Stafford Cripps negotiations, Darshan Singh said.

"It is the few British imperialists, fattened too much by exploiting colonial peoples who prevent the giving of independence to India," he said, estimating India could raise an army of 39,000,000 men to fight for the United Nations.

But as it was now, he said, India had nothing to fight for. It was only a question of whether Britain or Hitler would be the most lenient slave masters.

"A people will fight for a cause," he said, "but not for the fear of something worse."

He said the imperial regime in India had not raised the average daily income of an Indian above 8 cents and today the figure was 3 cents.

"Imperialism in all its history has civilized us to such a degree that at last 8 per cent of us are educated," he said. "It will take over 700 years at that rate before all of us will be able to read and write."

In contrast to the British regime in India, he described the Soviet regime in central Asia. In 1914, he said, only one half of 1 per cent of the people could read and write, whereas today education was universal.

He said the Indian people had already demonstrated democratic sympathies, and that they were the only nation which before the outbreak of World War II effectively boycotted the Japanese in China.

Next week-end the Victoria West Salvation Army Corps will hold special meetings to commemorate the conclusion of its seventh year of activity.

"Two weeks ago tomorrow," he said, "one Victoria shipyard paid off their graveyard shift and not one word was said in the newspapers."

In Vancouver, he said, hundreds of Japanese were still on the streets, and if B.C. were invaded tomorrow the enemy "would find the finest fifth column on the face of the earth."

T. A. BARNARD
T. A. Barnard, provincial president of the Canadian Legion, said Hitler made his greatest blunder in attacking Russia a year ago and his defeat was inevitable if a 100 per cent war contribution were made but victory for the Allies could not be expected until this full war effort was adopted.

"B.C. shipyard conditions are a crime and a disgrace to us," he said. "Of the seven-day week he said: 'The high and mighty must not be touched. It is only the worker who may be driven.'"

He wondered what will happen when the Russian embassy is set up in Ottawa. He said a staff of 40 Communists would thus be brought into Canada yet the government had interned Canadian Communists.

Army and V.M.D. Win Baseball

Royal Canadian Navy baseballers, running away with honors in the second division of the Victoria and District Baseball League, were brought to an abrupt halt by Army, Tuesday night, going down 13 to 0 before the heavy guns of the troops.

The soldiers brought a new pitcher, Krycia, out to the game, and he muffled the Navy batters the whole distance with some of the best pitching ever seen in local second division ball.

His teammates took a 10 to 0 lead in the first three innings and then coasted home.

In the other second division contest, manager Bob Ricketts pitched his V.M.D. team to a 5 to 3 win over Eagles. He showed plenty of speed and control to strike out 14 batters during the battle.

referee Joe Sedley had to stop the fight.
Christo, who scaled 169 against Colan's 175½, floored Colan with a barrage, ending with a savage left hook, in the first round. Colan got up at six and promptly was floored again. This time he barely arose after the count of nine and was sent down again as the bell rang. After the scrap he said he was "out" until the sixth round.
Franklin, a leading heavy-weight challenger until Bob Pastor and Harry Bobo knocked him out, was so groggy mentally after Muscato's savage flurry of rights and lefts that he got up without a count and stood there, helpless, arms glued to his sides.
The sergeant put Lem down again with a smashing right and when Franklin immediately arose and again stood with his hands at his sides, referee Joe Sedley called it off at 2.58 of the first. Franklin scaled 202, Muscato 187.

It offers no priority rating to users except on service and strictly within government war regulations. Every Dunlop dealer has committed himself to help Canada's War Effort by absolute adherence to the law. No patriotic motorist would want a dealer to do otherwise.

But the Dunlop Plan does mean that you will serve Canada better by making your tires last longer... that you will get more mileage than you ever enjoyed before from your tires... and that this service will give you increased driving safety every mile you travel.

First Instituted in August, 1941

Nine months ago, Dunlop-Canada presented, for the first time in Canada, a wartime tire saving service dedicated to the conservation of one of the most precious assets in the world today... RUBBER.

That Tire Saving Service is still benefiting many Canadians and is still available... not only to Dunlop users BUT TO ALL MOTORISTS, IRRESPECTIVE OF THE MAKE OF TIRES ON THEIR CARS.

No Needless or Unnecessary Expense
Work Done Only When Required

Remember, under the Dunlop Tire Saving Plan, no unnecessary work is advised or undertaken; it is an intelligent Tire Saving Plan under which work is done only where it is needed and all such work is performed on a MINIMUM COST BASIS. In other words, the motorist pays only where actual service is necessary and then pays a minimum charge. The Dunlop Tire Saving Service, too, is fair to all. Careful drivers under this plan naturally pay less than careless drivers. Those driving long mileages should pay for more necessary services or repairs as the case may be. We feel this is more beneficial to the greater number of motorists rather than by averaging the same cost among all. The careful driver is not being penalized and made to pay for the abusive driver or the one who is able, even under restrictions, to drive long mileages over hard roads.

Drive in today to your nearest Dunlop dealer. Ask him for the Dunlop Preferred Service Card and have your first tire check-up under the Dunlop Tire Saving Plan.

DUNLOP DEALERS 7-POINT TIRE SAVING SERVICE

(You will be given a Preferred Service Card entitling you to special call on your Dunlop Dealer's time and service facilities. No dealer will issue more cards than he can service efficiently.)

1. INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL TIRE INSPECTION—The Dunlop dealer will remove all tires and thoroughly inspect them inside and outside for signs of wear, cuts or bruises. He will also examine them outside and remove nails, glass and gravel. He will advise you of any signs of faulty wheel alignment or severely adjusted brakes. (Tire repairs where necessary will be made at low current charges.)
2. ROTATION OF TIRES—When replacing your tires the Dunlop dealer will rotate them so as to even wear and prolong the life of your tires.
3. TIRE INSPECTION AND REPAIRS—The Dunlop dealer will completely check tires for weakness or leaks.
4. RIM SERVICE—Rims will be scraped, painted and treated with graphite if required.
5. TIRE PAINTING—Your tires will be painted as required.
6. VALVE SERVICE—All valve caps and valve cores will be checked and replaced where necessary.
7. SERIAL NUMBERS—The Dunlop dealer will gladly provide you with the serial numbers of your tires, and will also carry them with you for emergency identification.

Motorists should get tire air pressure checked when purchasing gasoline. (Service stations have most excellent equipment for this.) Normally it is not necessary to top up your car to have all 7 points done at one time, although all can be quickly completed in one undertaking.

If it is time for internal tire inspection, then all tires must be removed and points 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 can all be taken care of at the same time.

Only a few dollars are involved in the service points if you have these done. Valve cores that are absolutely necessary, and these are the only ones you will be obliged to pay for. Your Dunlop dealer will estimate and show you how few dollars are involved to have any part or the complete 7-point service done. If you are a long-distance driver and your tires are subject to unusual abuse, we suggest you get the complete service done a year.

Medalist Defeated In Women's Golf

CHICAGO (AP)—Marjorie Row, 20-year-old Michigan State College co-ed from Detroit, jolted medalist Eleanor Dudley out of the Women's Western Open Golf Tournament Tuesday with a stinging one-up victory in the first round of match play.

Rallying hard to win five holes to the Chicago girl's three on the incoming nine after being a hole in arrears at the turns, Miss Row moved into today's second round where she will meet Mrs. Frank D. Mayer of Chicago.

The Michigan girl, her left hand taped to cover spike wounds suffered Tuesday when another girl stepped on it while Miss Row was sitting on the grass watching a driving contest, had her bad moments—but not on the 17th and 18th fairways when she took both holes to win.

The other favorites, including Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N.D., and Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., came through handily.

Income Taxes Soared Last Year

Succession duties, first introduced in last year's budget, produced $7,000,000.

Excise taxes showed a greater increase than that for the preceding year, rising from $284,000,000 to $453,000,000. The largest item in this group, the sales tax, at $236,000,000 was $56,000,000 or 31 per cent higher than the previous year.

The other excise taxes, including the new taxes imposed last year fully reached or exceeded the estimates of the last budget.

Excise duties yielded $110,000,000 as compared with $89,000,000 in the preceding year. Customs duties, as was expected, showed the smallest increase recorded during the war, from $131,000,000 to $142,000,000.

Nontax revenue, to which the largest contributor is the post office, is estimated to be $103,000,000. Special receipts and credits will be approximately $18,000,000.

Turning to our expenditures, we now estimate that ordinary expenditures for 1941-42 were slightly under $444,000,000 about $53,000,000 more than last year.

Of this increase, $15,000,000 is attributable to increased interest on the public debt, $10,000,000 to increased cost of loan flotations and bond amortization, $21,000,000 to compensation to the provinces under the tax agreements and $10,000,000 to the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Other items of ordinary expenditure are slightly reduced. Capital expenditures at $3,357,000, were about the same as the previous year.

The category of so-called special expenditures, which includes the costs of unemployment and agricultural relief, Prairie Farm Assistance Act, wheat acreage reduction payment, and prairie farm income payments will, it is estimated, show expenditures of $62,879,000. Expenditures for relief and works projects have fallen to small figures, but payments under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, the wheat acreage reduction and the prairie farm income payments have offset this decrease and occasioned an increase of $20,000,000 in the total.

To meet deficits resulting from the operations of the Canadian Wheat Board, which had not been previously provided for, $12,571,000 has been placed in reserve.

In the last budget, I estimated that war expenditures for 1941-42 would be between $1,300,000,000 and $1,450,000,000. It now is estimated that they will be $1,351,553,000, excluding outlays of $42,480,000 charged to active assets. This compares with $752,000,000 spent in the preceding year.

Adding to the amounts, which I have given, miscellaneous other charges representing chiefly write-down of assets, we get an aggregate expenditure for the year 1941-42 of $1,894,966,000, an amount more than 50 per cent higher than the expenditures of 1940-41, viz., $1,250,000,000. Deduction of total revenues of $1,481,285,000 gives $413,681,000 as the overall deficit or increase in the direct net debt, which on March 31, 1942, was approximately $4,062,372,000.

78% Expenditures Paid Out of Revenue

I estimated last year that we would pay between 73 and 79 per cent of our expenditures out of revenue. It now appears that we will have paid 78 per cent.

On March 31, 1942, the out-

DID YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE TODAY?

Do you really know why constipation is so harmful?

You probably know that constipation sets up poisons in the large intestine or colon. But do you know that these poisons seep through the walls of the colon and infect the bloodstream? They set up toxic accumulations in kidneys and liver and are contributing causes of rheumatic pains, sciatica and back-ache.

Most laxatives only act in the colon. Kruschen does more. It is the laxative with a double action. Besides ridding the colon of stagnating waste matter, Kruschen's mineral salts have a diuretic action. They flush the kidneys, help to clear the bloodstream of all poisonous matter, and so protect your whole system from that form of infection.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c and 75c.

Isley Warns

'We Have Far to Go Before Victory Seen'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government raised by taxation 50 per cent of its war-swollen, overall outlays during the last fiscal year—78 per cent of its expenditures—of the financing of British purchases in Canada are not included—Finance Minister Isley said in his budget speech in the Commons.

The aggregate expenditure on war and normal government accounts for the year ending last March 31 was $1,894,966,000, and total revenues were $1,481,285,000, leaving an over-all deficit of $413,681,000.

ADVANCES TO U.K.

Advances to the United Kingdom for the financing of British purchases required provision of $1,050,000,000 in addition to direct Canadian government outlays.

Both revenues and expenditures, as was expected, reached unprecedented levels and the minister said that while the problem of financing war developments has become "simple and direct in principle" it grows "increasingly difficult of execution."

Mr. Isley expressed satisfaction with arrangements made for the financing of British purchases here by the $1,000,000,000 gift and the $700,000,000 loan, dealt with by Parliament earlier in the session, and with Canada's foreign exchange position with the United States.

While he expressed satisfaction at the year's achievements in taxing, spending and borrowing, Mr. Isley's address was punctuated by notes of warning.

"Our war program is great and growing in size and effectiveness," he said. "More and more of our national strength is being absorbed into it. The programs of the United Nations are daily becoming more closely knit in mutual aid."

"Yet today it is bitterly plain that we have far to go before victory is in sight."

At another point he warned that Canada's economy is in the zone of full employment and expansion of the war program can be brought about only by careful choices as to what is urgent, what is more urgent and what Canadians can do without. He said restrictions on civilian industry will multiply. Hardship need not be expected, but rigorous economy of consumption is necessary.

Our whole financial record for 1941-42 is an achievement but I wish to add a word of warning. When we say that 78 per cent of our expenditures was paid out of revenues we are perfectly correct by the principles of book-keeping; but the figure is open to misconception.

In addition to our expenditures, we must take account of the financing of the United Kingdom. It was necessary during the year for the government to find approximately $1,050,000,000 for this purpose. In exchange for the Canadian dollars transferred to the United Kingdom, we acquired assets, certain Canadian government obligations held in London and sterling balances which now have been converted into the $700,000,000 loan.

Since we acquired assets, the accountants are quite correct in classifying these outlays as investments. But just as an individual faces the same immediate financial problem in finding $100 whether it is to be used to pay for the winter's coal, buy a government bond or make a gift to his son, so the immediate financial and economic problem of our financing of United Kingdom purchases has been the same as that of our own war expenditures.

We must realize that though it is correct to say that in 1941-42 we paid 78 per cent of our expenditures out of revenue, the significant thing to say is that we paid just over 50 per cent of our expenditures and war advances out of revenue.

Further, we must not be misled by our achievements in borrowing from the public and the corporations. The conditions, under which a government may most easily borrow from its people and have its loans always oversubscribed, are the conditions in which there is a considerable inflation of incomes and of bank balances.

The government is committed to a policy of "pay as you go as far as it may be practicable"; it has set its face against distributing the cost of war through the medium of inflation.

We must bear in mind that if it is easy for some of the people of this country to lend, easy for the government to borrow, there is a presumption, unless most of the opportunities for expenditure have been blocked, that we are falling short of our declared policy. I shall have occasion to say something further on this subject a little later.

present state of war outlays as against that of a year ago, however, was provided by the minister's statement that in the first quarter of 1942 direct war expenditures totaled $500,000,000 against $275,000,000 in the same period of 1941, an increase of more than 80 per cent.

Ordinary expenditures for the year were placed at just under $444,000,000, about $53,000,000 more than last year. Increased interest charges, due to higher debt, cost of loan flotations, tax compensation to the provinces, and unemployment insurance contributed to the increase.

Hard Work, Plain Living Asks Isley

The problem in regard to incentive is less easy to assess, but more fundamental and, therefore, more difficult to overcome. A progressive income tax must of necessity take more out of an additional dollar of earnings than it does out of the average dollar of earnings. Consequently it must bear heavily on additional income earned through extra effort or efficiency. There is a danger that high progressive rates of income tax may interfere with the incentive for harder and better work for efficient production.

I have endeavored, therefore, to frame these income tax measures so as to preserve as much as possible of the earnings incentive for the great majority of the working population. The third consideration is the need to insure that the increase in taxes is reflected in a decrease in expenditures and not in reduced saving. There would be little net gain if the putting into effect of higher income tax rates resulted in a corresponding decline in saving. It is vitally necessary that, while tax revenues increase, the flow of savings into the Treasury shall also increase greatly.

In order to obtain the increased yield from income tax which is required, I am proposing that we combine the present National Defence tax and the graduated income tax into a single assessment to be collected as far as possible by deduction at the source, or, where that is impracticable, by a compulsory installment plan. This total assessment will consist in part of a flat rate tax on the total income like the present National Defence tax, and in part of a steeply graduated tax at substantially higher rates than the present.

Will Recover War Advances

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, when the war is over, expects to recover advances made under authority of the War Appropriation Act, 1941, from the government of the United Kingdom and other Allied governments, Finance Minister Isley said in a white paper placed before the Commons.

These advances were made to facilitate the provision of services for the governments in question.

Corresponding services are rendered to Canada by the United Kingdom in connection with units of Canada's armed forces serving in the United Kingdom.

"It is impossible as yet to give a close estimate of the amount payable by Canada as at the close of last fiscal year, but it is fair to assume that this will substantially offset the amounts due the Dominion," the white paper said.

An estimate of the amounts owing to Canada, as at March 31, 1942, follows:

Army, $1,595,000.
Navy, $11,862,000.
Air, $1,017,000.

Internment operations, $854,000.

Royal Air Force special schools, $53,730,000.

British Commonwealth Air Training Plan—United Kingdom equipment, $46,689,000.

B.C.A.T.P.—Australia's share, $2,812,000.

Total, $120,559,000.

One quart of whole milk is approximately equal in food value to five ounces of Canadian cheese.

Telephone Companies Glad of Your Phones

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion treasury will be glad to have tax on telephones, but the telephone companies will also be glad to have the telephones, Finance Minister Isley said in his budget address.

Each telephone extension in a private home will pay a tax of 25 cents a month.

"The treasury will be glad to have the revenue, but, if anyone chooses to discontinue the use of such extensions, the telephone companies will be glad to have the instruments," he said.
